JAP CHUTISTS BATTLE DUTCH FOR SUMATRA

Invade Island Next to Singapore.

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, Dec. 28 (AP).—Japanese parachute troops have landed on the island of Sumatra on the flank of Britain's Singapore defenses in the first enemy attempt to establish a foothold on the Netherlands East Indies' soil, the Dutch reported tonight.

Parachutists drifted down about 10 miles from Medan, the site of an air-attacked Dutch civil airport on the east coast of Sumatra, the Aneta news agency said, but there were no immediate details of the strength or success of this air-borne invasion.

Aneta said the battle against the parachutists still was proceeding.

20 Killed, 40 Hurt at Airport.

Twenty persons were killed and 40 wounded in the aerial attack upon the airport, which was regarded as a diversion to distract attention from parachutists dropping in the vicinity. A direct hit was scored on the office of the KNILM—the Royal Netherlands Indies air line—and one plane was destroyed by fire as it was about to take off.

This effort to win an initial foothold on the western-most island of the Indies was one of a series of Japanese scatter blows which ranged across the breadth of the archipelago eastward to New Guinea but apparently cost the Japanese more than they were worth.

Off the Minahassa peninsula of northern Celebes, Aneta said, Australian planes scored direct hits on a small Japanese cruiser and left it with its stern aflame.

Several places on the peninsula were said to have been bombed and machine gunned but with no considerable damage.

New Guinea Attack Deadly.

One person was killed and uncounted others wounded, Aneta said, in a Sunday morning daylight raid on Sorong, on the north coast of New Guinea where homes, shops, and office buildings were demolished and many fires set.

Two other Japanese air assaults on outlying Dutch islands were reported in a brief communique.

In one, it said, a number of anchored naval aircraft were attacked and some damage was caused but "further particulars are not available."

In the other, also in an eastern region of the archipelago, it said a Dutch Royal Packet Navigation company merchant vessel was attacked and machine gunned by Japanese aircraft which killed one person and wounded three others but caused insignificant damage to the ship.

PARALLELS HOLLAND BLOW.

This aerial foray against Holland's eastern possessions closely paralleled Germany's invasion of the mother country itself in 1940 both in method and evident intent.

Nazi parachutists were in the van of the German thrust into the Lowlands—a blow aimed ultimately at flanking the main Maginot line for an invasion of France—and in the Netherlands they were used to seize and hold the Rotterdam air field for German military use.

Similarly, a base on Sumatra would have obvious advantages for the Japanese in their campaign against Singapore. Most of the island's east coast faces British Malaya across the Malacca strait, which is narrowest and filled with stepping stone islands near Britain's great far eastern citadel.

The Medan area is directly opposite Penang, the Japanese occupied island off the Malayan west coast, and a Japanese base there would serve the double edged purpose, therefore, of providing flank protection for the southward drive into Malaya and a close flanking threat to Singapore itself.

England May Send U.S. Some Salvaged Rubber

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Special plants for the treatment of salvaged rubber will be set up in various parts of this country, according to the Daily Telegraph. Pending the completion of these, it may be decided to send rubber to the United States. Latest available figures show that the reclaimed rubber in America amounted to 38 per cent of crude rubber imports, compared with seven per cent in the United Kingdom. During the year before the war, Britain imported 130,000 tons of crude rubber.

WAR

A LONELY YANK, A NOTE, AND WOW!

He Writes a Letter; Then Comes the Deluge.

Private Joseph Dee Everingham, stationed at Camp Grant, Rockford, was feeling blue. He was far from his Clearwater, Fla., home and the way his name was being skipped at mail time was getting monotonous. So he sat down a couple of days before Christmas and penned a plaint to the Voice of the People column of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

"I'm certainly the loneliest private this side of the Mississippi," he wailed. "I'd surely appreciate hearing something about something." The letter was published the morning of Dec. 24.

Before the afternoon was out, 18 telegrams and a dozen cards reached the heretofore neglected soldier. "Keep your chin up," was the general tenor of the messages, "sending package later."

Then the Deluge.

The deluge came Christmas morning. Camp postal clerks, mumbling under their breaths, made trip after trip to Everingham's quarters, upturned the mail bags and poured out parcels of all sizes and descriptions, plus bundles of letters and cards.

But that was only the beginning. The day after Christmas camp postoffice employés estimated that the once sad Everingham had received between 300 and 400 letters and about 40 packages.

Still they came, on Saturday and Sunday, and the torrent shows no signs of abating.

Bugs Baer, the humorist, sent a fruit cake. A large Chicago department store shipped a big box of goodies. A grandmother with four grandsons in the army offered to knit him something.

Lots of lonely girls sent along their pictures. Even a Lonely Hearts club sent a list of wealthy widows.

They're Busy Boys.

Everingham and his cronies have spent the last three days tearing the wrappings off packages and nibbling on the mountains of cookies, fruit, nuts, and candy.

He got lobsters, and sardines, and cheese. He got an electric pants presser, a sewing kit, a pair of scissors, five toothbrushes, a pile of stationery and stamps to go with it. He got a dictionary, four sweaters, and many pairs of socks. He got enough Sunday dinner invitations to last him thru the emergency.

One woman had addressed a Christmas card to Winston Churchill at the White House, but when she read Everingham's letter she crossed out the British prime minister's name and mailed it to the lonely private.

Everything but a Proposal.

"I've received everything but a proposal so far," said the smiling youth whose name postal employés will never forget. "And I'll probably find that in that unopened stack of letters."

Even while the postman continued to arrive, Everingham and a corps of volunteer secretaries [salary: ample handfuls of refreshments] were busy acknowledging every letter, card, and gift.

"Nobody can ever tell me anything about the power of the press," the 25 year old soldier smiled. "All I can say is, wow!"

War Strategy Is Agreed Upon by America and Great Britain

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain, in conferences concluding today, reached a complete and comprehensive agreement on the conduct of the war by the Anglo-American alliance on all fronts.

Their agreement falls into the two following categories:

1. The strategy to be employed by the United States and Great Britain for the general purpose of checking offensive operations by the axis powers until the democracies acquire a superiority of planes, ships, and arms that will enable them to take the offensive in every sector.

2. The apportionment of the implements of war produced in the United States, Great Britain, and the British dominions to the allied forces in the various theaters of war.

War Council Convened.

Following the conclusion of the agreement, Mr. Roosevelt took the first step to implement the understanding. He convened a council of war at the White House, composed entirely of American officials, presumably to consider chiefly the Philippine situation in the light of the allied grand strategy agreed upon by the President and the prime minister.

In addition to Commander in Chief Roosevelt, those participating in the council were Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, Adm. Ernest King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, Adm. Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the army, and Adm. Richmond K. Turner, chief of the war plans division of the office of naval operations.

At the close of the protracted session it was stated that nothing could be disclosed for publication until the decisions reached are translated into action. Presumably, the question uppermost in the discussion was the relief of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's beleagured forces in the Philippines and other measures to check the advance of the Japanese toward the oil, tin, and rubber riches of the Dutch East Indies.

The plight of the American forces in the Philippines is due chiefly to the inferiority of American and British air strength in the far east. Our air forces in the islands were considerably strengthened in the last two years but not sufficiently to meet the Japanese on even terms. One reason for the insufficient reënforcement was that most of the American made bombers were sent to the British and Russian armies. Another was the underestimate of the air strength of the Japanese.

Hawaii Disaster Costly.

The relief of MacArthur also has been hampered by the disaster in Hawaii in which the United States lost not only a large number of bombers, but warships that might have guarded communications with the Philippines. By the treacherous coup with which they started the war the Japanese gained control of the Pacific west of the Hawaiian Islands.

While for military reasons it is not permitted to publish the details of the agreement reached by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill it may be stated that American material resources are to be sent in increasing volume to Britain, Russia, and Africa.

American man power is not to be sent overseas in vast numbers before 1943 when it is calculated that the allies will be strong enough to take the initiative against Hitler on the European continent. It is not unlikely, however, that an American expeditionary force of comparatively small proportions, possibly not more than 50,000 men, will be dispatched to west Africa to oppose an invasion of that region by the Nazis.

May Rule from U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—It was reported here today that precautionary plans have been made to establish a Philippine government in exile in Washington, if American forces lose Luzon.

A Philippine government in exile could spur the resistance of hard fighting Filipino guerrillas behind the Japanese lines and could recruit men for American armed forces fighting elsewhere in the far east, it was claimed.

ALL RESOURCES OF 4 COUNTRIES ARE PROMISED

Roosevelt Message Radioed to Manila.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—In a radio message tonight to the people of the Philippines, President Roosevelt pledged the "entire resources, in men and in material, of the United States" to redeem their freedom from the Japanese invaders.

Mr. Roosevelt broadcast his message of hope directly by short wave to bomb battered Manila, where it was rebroadcast thruout the islands.

It was interpreted here as a move to bolster morale and encourage the Filipinos to hold out against the Japanese attack, including the merciless and uncivilized bombing of the undefended capital by the Japanese. A leaflet campaign has also been instituted by the Japs, asking the Filipinos to yield to the Japanese invasion.

Simultaneously, the navy department issued a statement saying the United States fleet is not idle but is following a "well planned campaign" which will result in positive assistance in the defense of the islands.

Recites Admiration of People.

Mr. Roosevelt's broadcast, which was announced at 8 p. m., Chicago time, was as follows:

"The people of the Philippines:

"News of your gallant struggle against the Japanese aggressor has elicited the profound admiration of every American. As President of the United States, I know that I speak for all our people on this solemn occasion.

"The resources of the United States, of the British empire, of the Netherlands East Indies and of the Chinese republic have been dedicated by their people to the utter and complete defeat of the Japanese war lords. In this great struggle of the Pacific, the loyal Americans of the Philippine Islands are called upon to play a crucial rôle.

"They have played, and they are playing tonight, their part with the greatest gallantry.

"People Will Never Forget."

"As President I wish to express to them my feeling of sincere admiration for the fight they are now making.

"The people of the United States will never forget what the people of the Philippine Islands are doing this day and will do in the days to come. I give to the people of the Philippines my solemn pledge that their freedom will be redeemed and their independence established and protected.

"The entire resources, in men and material, of the United States stand behind that pledge.

"It is not for me or for the people of this country to tell you where your duty lies. We are engaged in a great and common cause. I count on every Philippine man, woman, and child to do his duty. We will do ours."

"Fleet Not Idle," Says Navy.

The navy's statement follows in full:

"The navy department tonight announced the Japanese government is circulating rumors for the obvious purpose of persuading the United States to disclose the location and intentions of the American Pacific fleet. It is obvious that these rumors are intended for and directed at the Philippine Islands.

"The Philippines may rest assured that while the United States navy will not be tricked into disclosing vital information, the fleet is not idle. The United States navy is following an intensive and well-planned campaign against the Japanese forces which will result in positive assistance to the defense of the Philippine Islands."

"Manila Can Take It."

New York, Dec. 28 (AP).—High Commissioner Francis B. Sayre of the Philippines declared in a statement to the island population today that "any one who has been in Manila since the outbreak of the war must be convinced that we can take it as well as the people of London, of Moscow, or of Chungking."

"Help is surely coming—help of sufficient adequacy and power that the invader will be driven from our midst and he will be rendered powerless ever to threaten us again," Sayre said in the statement, broadcast from Manila by NBC.

"This is a time when the courage of all the people of these islands, whatever their nationality, is being put to the test. We are being afforded a rare opportunity to show the stuff of which we are made."

HERE'S SUMMARY OF THE FIGHTING ON ALL FRONTS

Yesterday's war news from all fronts included the following developments:

In the Philippines, Gen. MacArthur reported American and Filipino forces holding the Japanese on the northern front, while he admitted enemy pressure was increasing on the southern or Atimonan sector. He reported a belated Christmas present to America in the form of a Japanese transport sunk on Christmas day. The Japanese air force returned to the attack on undefended Manila yesterday, battering the walled city section again and causing numerous fires, but the casualties were confined to three persons injured.

President Roosevelt in a broadcast to the people of the Philippines pledged them all the resources of the United States, Great Britain, the Netherlands East Indies, and China in ousting the invaders and urged them to hold out.

British Gain in Malaya.

The fourth week of the war in Malaya started with the announcement that British troops have driven back the Japs with heavy losses in the Chemor area of Perak state, about 290 miles from Singapore. British bombers were said to have attacked a Japanese airdrome and wrecked 10 planes on the ground. A Jap bicycle detachment was wiped out in the jungle, the Japanese shedding their shoes and climbing trees to escape, the British reported.

Seeking to establish another front for their armies which would constitute a new threat to Singapore, the Japanese landed parachute troops on the island of Sumatra in the Netherlands East Indies. The Dutch news agency Aneta said a battle against the parachutists was proceeding. Australian planes set fire to a Japanese cruiser off the coast of Celebes, and Japanese bombers raided the Celebes peninsula, a town in New Guinea, and two Dutch islands.

British Navy Raids Norway.

Strong British forces, including the navy, army, and air force, and believed to number one of Britain's shock troops "commandos" staged a short but successful raid on the Norwegian coast. Altho the admiralty said all ships taking part in the raid returned "fit for immediate service," Berlin reported one British destroyer sunk and a cruiser and a destroyer damaged, as well as 10 bombers shot down in dogfights and by anti-aircraft fire. The Germans admitted a patrol boat and several Norwegian steamers were sunk.

Russians Pursue Fleeing Nazis

In Russia the big German retreat continued. The soviets reported 332 towns and villages captured in the last 10 days, and claimed that German youths of 17 and 18 constituted most of one division that dropped its arms and fled. The Russians reported capturing scores of motorcycles which were promptly mounted by Russian troops to pursue the Germans. Untrained Nazis were reported being rushed to the front to stem the rout, and a captured document urged the German troops to stop the retreat at all costs.

RAF units and "Free French." bombers blasted axis motor transport and fuel trucks near Agedabia, in Libya, also raiding the port of Tripoli and the harbor of Zuara, a railhead 30 miles from French Tunisia. Several ships were reported hit by bombs.

JAPS HELD IN NORTH, ADVANCE IN SOUTH LUZON

Manila Bombed for Second Time.

BULLETIN.

MANILA, Dec. 28 (Sunday) (Delayed) (AP).—Manila, bombed for two hours earlier today, had a 46 minute air raid alarm late today when three Japanese planes strafed suburban Camp Murphy from an altitude of 200 feet. The camp previously had been evacuated. The planes, which appeared at 4:22 p. m. (1:22 a. m. Chicago time Sunday), did not fly over the city proper.

MANILA, Dec. 29 [Monday] (AP).—The Philippines' outnumbered defenders battled against increasing pressure yesterday from the invaders in southeastern Luzon and held them to a virtual standstill in the north, while massed Japanese bombers spread fire and ruin in undefended Manila for the second successive day.

An American officer arriving from the northern Luzon front reported last night the Japanese appeared to be falling back at one point and that the situation in general was "very well in hand."

This officer told the Manila Bulletin that Filipino troops were "fighting marvelously" and that "morale and spirit are the highest."

Nine Jap Planes Downed.

It was in one sector of the Lingayen front that the Japanese appeared to be losing ground.

Antiaircraft guns functioning efficiently on the northern front knocked down nine Japanese planes yesterday, he said.

[A Manila dispatch from The Tribune's staff correspondent, Vicente A. Pacis, said private reports indicate a considerable Japanese advance on the southeast front, reaching beyond Lucena to Sariaya, in Tayabas province. The Japs seized the home of Gov. Rodriques. From Mauban, the enemy also advanced beyond Butucan, source of Manila's electric power. Apparently the defense forces are moving back to new positions. These facts were confirmed by military authorities, but not by Gen. MacArthur's headquarters, said Pacis.]

Pressure Increases in South.

A communique issued in midafternoon by the headquarters of the United States armed forces of the far east said:

"Enemy pressure is increasing from the southeast. [In the Atimonan sector, 75 miles from Manila.] Our troops are resisting valiantly.

"There is little change in the north.

"Our anti-aircraft shot down at least three enemy bombers yesterday. Our bombers hit enemy transports at Davao Christmas night successfully. One transport is known to have been sunk."

[A Domei, Japanese news agency, broadcast from Tokio said last night that Japanese forces are concentrating their main effort in the Philippines in an attempt to capture Manila before New Year's.]

The Tokio radio, broadcasting in the Filipino Tagolog language, advised residents of the city last night to leave Manila and go to the inland towns of Antipolo and Montalban because Japan does not recognize the capital as an open city and will continue the aerial attacks. The towns are in Rizal province, in which Manila is located.

The unchallenged Japanese planes flew low and deliberately across Manila for two hours and four minutes—from 11:24 a. m. until 1:28 p. m. —unloading scores of bombs, while the city below shuddered anew at the tremendous explosions and columns of smoke billowed into a bright Sunday sky.

At least five formations of nine planes each, their Rising Sun emblems clearly visible from the ground, pounded the city, but despite the ferocity of the assault none was killed among the population and only three were injured.

City Ablaze with Light.

The raiders soared in straight lines of three while bombs whistled and débris hurtled skyward. As darkness settled over the city the angry glow of still raging fires was reflected in the heavens. One of the fires appeared to be in the vicinity of Fort Santiago.

Last night Manila was a blaze of light for the first time in nearly three weeks as the result of the removal of blackout restrictions so that the city might fully conform with its declared status of an open, or undefended, civilian center.

Police cars picked their way thru bomb-scarred streets with loudspeakers blaring: "Turn on your lights, the blackout is ended!" But after 20 lightless nights Manilans were reluctant to heed the order. Here and there a light appeared in residential sections, but most homes remained dark.

"We do not trust the Japanese. They bomb Manila altho it is an open city and they might come tonight," was the frequent comment.

The radio station resumed long-wave broadcasting.

Within the walled city the Japanese bombs fired the buildings of Deletran college, added new damage to the already badly damaged Santa Rosa and Santa Catalina schools and fired an entire block.

One bomb hit the Dunlop Tire company building and another flattened United States army quartermaster buildings.

Bombs set afire the big Elizalde rope warehouse on the Pasig river, of which J. M. Elizalde, resident commissioner in Washington, is one of the principal owners.

The treasury building was hit, adding to the wreckage created by yesterday's bombing of that structure, as were old Fort Santiago and the plant of the Manila Herald, the city's only afternoon newspaper. All these buildings were set on fire.

Among the dead in yesterday's assault was William Barker, 19, son of Capt. William Barker, head of the San Ferando fire station, which was destroyed. The captain and his daughter, Elsie, were injured.

Bombs Fall in River.

Altho the Japanese bombed at will, many of their missiles went astray in the Pasig river when they attempted to hit boats tied up there.

An inspection of burned areas in the port district showed that one pier had been badly damaged Saturday and three others slightly damaged. Fires from a freighter in the bay and from the old walled city had blazed thruout the night.

Tokio radio broadcasts announcing that Japan was refusing to recognize Manila as an open city because this status had only been accorded "arbitrarily" by United States authorities, was greeted with defiance by Filipinos.

"Until Manila was declared an open city it was noticeable that the Japanese did not attempt to attack civilian installations from the air," said last night's communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters.

Blacking Out Stopped.

"But as soon as the army was withdrawn, including anti-aircraft protection, they immediately raided, hitting all types of civilian premises, including bridges, convents, churches, business houses, and residences.

"Manila will no longer be blacked out. Tonight and all nights in the future will be lighted."

Gov. Santiago Estrada, who arrived from Pangasinan province, told of fierce fighting, when the Japanese attempted to advance eastward toward the summer capital of Baguio. The small town of Tayug, 35 miles east of Lingayen, has changed hands several times, he said.

U. S. Troops Holding Japs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—A war department communique today indicated that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's American and Filipino troops apparently are holding the Japanese in their land drive toward Manila, despite heavy enemy reinforcements and savage air attacks. The war department said fighting on all fronts on the island of Luzon "was confined to relatively unimportant operations," but that the Japs are landing large reenforcements in the vicinity of Damortis.

Japs Spurn "Open City."

TOKIO, Dec. 28 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—Japanese forces in the Philippines refuse to be bound by the United States declaration of Manila as an open city, a war office spokesman said today.

The Japanese will not consider their action at all limited by such "arbitrary and unilateral announcements" and will proceed to carry out war objectives, the spokesman declared.

He said Manila had served as a nerve center of military resistance, even yet was surrounded at close quarters by military establishments. He asserted that America's declaration was misleading and that Japan had received no official notification on it.

Meanwhile, Japanese forces were declared to be continuing their advance. Two more landings were made on Luzon island, this time on the west coast within 44 miles of Manila.

CHURCHILL IN CANADA, TO MEET WAR COMMITTEE

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 29 [Monday] (AP).—A meeting with the Canadian cabinet's war committee, lunch with the cabinet, a press conference, and a Government house dinner and reception formed the program arranged for Prime Minister Winston Churchill today upon his arrival from Washington.

Tomorrow he will address a joint meeting of the Canadian senate and house of commons. Canadians expected the speech, to be broadcast over the world, to rank in importance with his speech before the United States congress last week.

Civilians Serve in Hawaii's Defense

Civilian volunteers at Honolulu make the final inspection of surgical dressings made at the Theodore A. Cooke home in Nuuanu. Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, Hawaiian commander, thanked the civilian population of Honolulu yesterday for its helpfulness following the Pearl Harbor attack.

[Acme Photos.]

The rolls of the American Red Cross services corps in Honolulu read like the social register these days as Hawaii's most prominent women serve in the civilian defense organization. At their headquarters in Honolulu are Mrs. Richard Kimball (left), chairman of home nursing; Mrs. Herman von Holt, and Mrs. Morris Value (right), office assistant.

AN INVITATION TO JAPS: COME BACK TO HAWAII!

Navy Is Set to Avenge Surprise Call.

HONOLULU, Dec. 28 (AP).—Uncle Sam's naval aerial defense was ready and willing today for the Japanese to repeat their sneak visit to Hawaii.

"We wish they would come again," said the commander of a naval air station on Oahu Island.

This air station was the first objective of the Japanese squadrons which struck Hawaii three weeks ago today.

Newspaper men taken on a tour of the station by naval officers saw new planes amid the wreckage caused by the enemy's first attack.

Bomb craters, machine gun perforations, a burned hangar and hillside graves remained as reminders of the attack, but there was ample evidence that the line of defense was back in commission.

12 Planes Attack First.

The commander said that 12 Japanese planes attacked the station at 7:45 a. m. Dec. 7, while another formation swept over at 10,000 feet.

"The 12 that slammed us seemed to know exactly where they were going," the commander said. "They strafed planes, hangars and cars with machine gun incendiary bullets. They did plenty of damage, but salvage work was started immediately and there was a good chance of saving the burning hangar.

"However, 25 minutes later, a second group of 18, some fighters and some bombers, swooped in and an almost direct bomb hit damaged our fire fighting equipment. They dropped 18 bombs. Practically all of our planes were disabled."

Jap Bombers Had U. S. Parts.

The commander said that the Japanese planes that crashed carried parts made in the United States and were of "first class construction."

He told how one Japanese pilot, brought down by rifle fire, wore a threadbare and extensively patched blue uniform and carried a chart of the Hawaiian Islands and nearby waters.

This pilot was given a military burial by the men whom he had been sent to kill.

The naval commander looked at pictures of dead American bluejackets, flaming hangars and planes, and of final rites of his own men who had died.

"Yes, we wish they would come again," he said.

Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commander of the Hawaiian department, today thanked the civilian population of Honolulu for its "genuine and spontaneous kindness and helpfulness" in caring for women and children evacuated from army posts after the Japanese struck here.

YULE TREE LIGHTS CAUSE FIRE.

A short circuit in the Christmas tree wiring caused a fire yesterday in the home of R. J. McLaughlin at 7658 Sheridan road. Damage was estimated at $600.

AUSTRALIA SOOTHED BY CHURCHILL ON AID IN WAR OF PACIFIC

CANBERRA, Australia, Dec. 28 (AP).—Prime Minister John Curtin's emphatic views concerning the paramount importance of the Pacific front in the war have received an encouraging reply from Winston Churchill, official sources said today.

It was disclosed that the war cabinet would discuss the reply Tuesday and the war council will meet on the following day. It was expected that the two groups will lay plans for a greatly expanded output of aircraft.

In a clarification of his views expressed in a newspaper article yesterday in which he declared Australia's main reliance is upon the United State, Curtin said today he looked for no weakening of the dominion's link with Great Britain.

JAPS CRIPPLED OUR AIR FORCE, SAY SPOKESMEN

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

MANILA, Dec. 28.—Answering the question, "What happened to the American air force?" military spokesmen today said the enemy's initial attacks on Nichols field, Clark field, and other newly constructed airfields caused damage from which the air force never recovered.

Many planes were destroyed on the ground by direct, repeated attacks of high level bombing, it was explained, which established enemy air superiority. The spokesmen stressed the need for underground hangars and secrecy surrounding airfield construction.

This does not mean, however, that the military situation here is hopeless or even dangerous, it was insisted. Reestablishment of air superiority with assistance from the United States could turn the tide of invasion attempts in short order, according to informed quarters.

ATTACK ON JAPS IN THAILAND AND INDO-CHINA SEEN

U.S. Flyers May Aid A-B-C Thrust Thru Burma.

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

SINGAPORE, Dec. 28.—The visit of Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell to Chungking underlines indications that a joint British-Chinese-American military effort of major proportions thru Yunnan and Burma against the Japanese flank in Indo-China and Thailand [Siam] is likely to occur before long.

America's part in the effort would consist of participation by the American volunteer group of airmen already in action in Burma and China, the utilization of American lease-lend materials to China which are still streaming thru Burma over the Burma road, and the share of leadership which would be taken by Brig. Gen. John Magruder, chief foreign military adviser to Chungking and his staff of American experts.

Japs Aware of Threat.

Reenforcements and supplies from India and other parts of the British empire have been pouring into Rangoon since the outbreak of the war and the seriousness with which the Japanese view the threat from Burma is indicated by their attempted mass air raid on Rangoon recently during which British and American flyers went into action and broke up the Japanese formations and reportedly shot down 10 of the raiding bombers.

The threat to the Japanese which is developing from the west is doubtless also connected with the slowing up of the Japanese offensive in Malaya.

It is believed that the British, Chinese and American land and air forces would operate against the Japanese without regard to the China-Burma frontier.

U. S. Flyers Trained in Burma.

The American volunteer group moved into Yunnan just before the outbreak of the war after spending several months in assembling planes and training in Burma. The force was recruited, organized and trained by Col. Claire Chennault who until several years ago was one of the leading pursuit experts of the American army air corps.

Observers who have been watching the prospect of an allied action against the Japanese along the Yunnan-Burma front recall that in the series of wars between Burma and Siam in the centuries between 1200 and 1800 A. D., Burma was twice victorious over the invader, Siam, largely because of the tortuous mountain and jungle passes which mark the border between these two countries.

Unit Has Modern Planes.

The Burma volunteer group is a large pursuit contingent which is equipped with superior modern United States planes. These have proved their worth against Japanese machines in encounters already.

Close liaison has been maintained between Col. Chennault and the royal air force command here. Col. Chennault's second in command is Maj. Harvey Greenlaw, English born and a one-time American army pilot. Joseph Alsop, the former Washington columnist, resigned his commission in the navy and an assignment as naval observer in Bombay to become Col. Chennault's aide.

China has for many months had the cream of her army and her best equipment mobilized in southern Yunnan against the threatened Japanese move toward the Burma road. Consequently, China is now completely ready to send her forces into action wherever the allied commanders may deem best.

Japan Sets Up Bureau on War Prisoners' Care

TOKIO, Dec. 28 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—A bureau to be entrusted with supervision and treatment of war prisoners and with informing nations as well as families involved in the captures will be set up by the Japanese government tomorrow under the direct jurisdiction of Premier General Hideki Tojo in his capacity as war minister.

JAPS BROADCAST, FALSELY; FRISCO BOMBED, AFIRE

Cut In with Lie on U. S. Station's Bulletin.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 28 [Special].—Japanese propagandists sought to create panic in the Philippines today by cutting in on a short wave news broadcast from San Francisco to announce falsely that San Francisco had been attacked by Japanese bombers and left in flames.

Announcement of this new Japanese propaganda technique was made by the public relations office of the 12th naval district here.

Lies Made to Appear True.

The program interrupted was a regular short wave broadcast to Manila from San Francisco's KGEI, and the interference apparently was supplied by a powerful Japanese station using the same wave length. The voice was that of an American and his "bulletins" were given in such a way as to make it appear KGEI was breaking into its own broadcast to give last minute details of the "attack."

Actually San Francisco had an uneventful night and a quiet Sunday. News of the Japanese broadcast both astounded and amused San Franciscans who heard about it tonight.

New Technique in Propaganda.

Because the Japanese announcer used excellent English, there was speculation that this latest axis maneuver may be the prelude to the emergence of an American Lord Haw Haw of the Pacific. Whereas the original Lord Haw Haw, who has been bombarding England with German propaganda since the German invasion of Poland, has always relied on such weapons as sarcasm, ridicule, and distortion, his Japanese counterpart is scorning such refinements in favor of deliberate lying.

"In view of this first attempt, radio listeners are warned to be on the alert against any future attempts by the enemy to confuse listeners by feeding false reports into regular broadcast wave lengths," said the official naval statement.

DIES IN DAUGHTER'S HOME.

Mrs. Blanda Duckett, 55 years old, 1113 Chicago avenue, a widow, died last night of a heart attack in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sybil Peterson, 2156 Monroe street.

FREEDOM REPORTED PLEDGED BY ALLIES TO VICTIMS OF AXIS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 [Special].—The United States and Great Britain have assured countries now occupied by the axis that everything possible will be done to restore their full independence at the end of the war, it was learned today. This assurance was given yesterday by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill to representatives of several of the occupied countries who were called to the White House to be advised about the progress of the war talks.

Coincidentally, President Roosevelt is understood to have told the diplomats when they left that "this time we shall see that Germany is disarmed and stays disarmed."

The assurance is interpreted as meaning that the United States and Great Britain do accept in principle the restoration of independent states but that they insist that these states will be expected to coöperate and perhaps to give up some of their sovereign rights in the interest of economically sound and militarily secure Europe.

FILIPINO MAYOR ATTACKS A TANK WITH HIS PISTOL

BY VICENTE A. PACIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I., Dec. 28.—Unflinching courage is making up for lack of arms against the invaders in some places in the Philippines.

Gov. Santiago Estrada of Pangasinan province, off the gulf of Lingayen, in western Luzon, reports that Mayor Nicodemes Suller of San Manuel clambered up one of the Japanese tanks entering the town and emptied his revolver into the ventilation vent. He was riddled with holes.

At Vigan a college president refused to lower the American flag at his house when ordered to do so and was shot on the spot. A Filipino soldier, escaped from his Japanese captors, picked up the gun of a fallen comrade and shot and slashed his way thru the jungle to Manila. Natives of Pangasinan, armed with cleavers and sharpened bamboos, are helping the army.

COMPLETE STORY OF WAKE FIGHT—EXCEPT LAST ACT

Marines with Four Planes Sank Five Jap Ships.

HONOLULU, Dec. 28 (AP).—Two hundred Japanese planes bombed and machine gunned Wake Island's 385 marine corps defenders during the 15 days—Dec. 8 to 22, inclusive—they are known to have resisted, navy department officials revealed here today.

But even in their last dispatch the sadly outnumbered garrison didn't admit defeat. "The issue is in doubt," they said on Dec. 22 in reporting that the enemy had gained a foothold on the mid-Pacific defense outpost, 2,500 miles west of Honolulu, and that "more ships and a transport" were moving in.

Today's statement disclosed that with only four planes in action the defending marines shot down at least a dozen Japanese airplanes and knocked out of action five enemy warships—three destroyers, a cruiser, and a submarine.

Naval Account Graphic.

The account follows:

"This is part, and only a part, of the story of the battle of Wake Island. Its compilation was taken from official dispatches sent while the battle raged, when time was precious and no words wasted. Therefore, it is devoid of any but the simplest facts.

"The battle began almost at the same time as the assault launched against Pearl Harbor. The day and hour was different because Wake Island lies west of the international dateline. It was Sunday, the 7th in Honolulu, Monday, the 8th on Wake. The battle ended some time after 5 p. m., Dec. 22, Wake time. That was the hour of the dispatching of the last report from Wake's defenders to headquarters of the 14th naval district at Pearl Harbor. The report said that the enemy was on the island and that several ships and a transport were moving in. Shortly afterward the Wake radio fell silent, not to be heard again.

"Official reports indicate that probably no military force in American history, not even the defenders of the Alamo, ever fought against greater odds nor with greater effect in view of those odds.

[One hundred and fifty Texans—every man inside the mission-fort—were killed when the Alamo was captured in February, 1836, during the war in which Texas won its independence from Mexico. The Alamo is in San Antonio.]

Shoot Down 12 Jap Planes.

"The reports show that during the 14 days of Wake's siege not fewer than 200 Japanese planes bombed and machine gunned the tiny isle's defenders. This figure does not include those in the final attack, wherof the number is unknown. But as many as 50 bombers, some four motored seaplanes, attacked the island in a single raid.

"During the closing days of the siege they [the defenders] had only two, and finally one plane. These were patched together between flights. Nevertheless, marine flyers, plus anti-aircraft batteries, managed to bring down at least 12 enemy planes.

"After the first surprise attack the enemy acquired a healthy respect for this defense combination and gave up low altitude strafing and bombing for high level attack. Even so, until the garrison was overwhelmed by a landing force, the marines, flyers, and anti-aircraft batteries continued to give a good accdunt of themselves.

25 Die in First Attack.

"The first attack on Dec. 8 was made by between 20 and 30 twin engined bombers, apparently of medium class. These were land planes and possibly from Japan's mandated islands south of Wake. They carried light bombs and were armed with incendiary cannon and machine guns.

"Four of the 12 marine planes based on the island were in the air when the enemy appeared in a low glide out of a cloud bank. The other eight planes were being serviced. The enemy went for these at once. Seven were total losses from bomb hits and fire and only the remnants of the eighth salvagable. The landing field was damaged but remained usable. Also, enemy bombs failed to find marine stores and aviation gasoline. The gasoline supply of the Pan American Airways' base was ignited.

"Casualties in the first raid were heavy. Some 25 persons were killed and more than that number wounded.

"Raid number two followed the next day at almost the same hour. About 20 bombers attacked, these including incendiaries in their bomb loads. Raid number three came before the day was over—this was the 9th of December at Wake Island. Due to vigorous plane and anti-aircraft defenses, damage was less severe than on Dec. 8.

"The third day of the battle, Dec. 10, brought the fourth air raid and the first surface attack. As dawn broke, enemy warships started pumping shells onto the flat, virtually shelterless atoll. There is practically not a natural cover against bombardment on Wake. Except for manmade construction, its surface is bare and inhospitable.

"As the enemy warships opened fire, their aircraft came over in waves. Nevertheless Wake's guns replied with such good effect to this double attack that a light cruiser and destroyer were sunk. The defenders also had the satisfaction of chalking up a total of six enemy planes destroyed to and including this third day of the battle.

"The effectiveness of the Wake shore batteries, demonstrated by the sinking of two warships, evidently impressed the enemy, for altho on that day two transports with escort cruisers and destroyers were sighted, they made no effort to land troops. They held off beyond the range of shore batteries. The purpose of this delay soon was evident. Eighteen planes, making the fifth raid of the battle, appeared from the southwest. As in this day's earlier action the enemy was badly worsted. Altho his bombs did no damage beyond further pulverizing beaches, two of his planes were shot down.

Garrison Hides "Feelings."

"Terse official dispatches made no mention of the garrison's feelings but the results of the blows exchanged Dec. 10 must have been encouraging. And after almost constant action for three days the marines still had three planes. They lost only one out of the four with which they started the battle, eight having been destroyed on the ground out of the original force of 12.

"Dec. 11 was another bright day in the defense of Wake. Toward dawn a four engined enemy seaplane attacked. Marine flyers were ready for it and promptly shot it down. Meanwhile, the convoy reappeared and defending flyers attacked this, severely damaging one of its vessels. A submarine, which was discovered, was attacked with bombs and sunk.

"The enemy did not appear at Wake Dec. 12.

"In early morning of Dec. 13, attacking by moonlight, large four engined bombers came over the island. They were held off sufficiently by anti-aircraft fire to prevent damage altho bombs dropped.

"Dec. 14 was not so heartening. Nearly 50 enemy medium bombers came over in a succession of waves, the heaviest onslaught of the battle. Anti-aircraft and planes brought down three and damaged several others. But of the marines' three planes, one was destroyed on the ground and another washed out, landing in damaged condition altho the pilot escaped.

"The Japanese used incendiary bullets and bombs in this raid and caused heavy damage. By pattern bombing they were able to cover much of the island areas with such large numbers of planes. When the raid was over the marine defenders had one plane left in service.

"How the marines were able to patch up another plane in the space of a few hours on the blacked out island with wrecked facilities may never be known. But when daylight of the 15th came the marines again had two planes.

"During the night the ninth raid was made but no serious damage was done.

"On Dec. 16 more than 25 bombers raided the island and again in the early evening of the 17th. By now practically every installation on the island was heavily damaged. The storehouse with spare parts and other material was gone, burned to the ground. The machine shop and blacksmith shop were wiped out. Frames of some of the buildings were standing but the roofs and walls were badly damaged.

Remaining Buildings Damaged.

"On Dec. 18 a heavy force of bombers, apparently medium class two-engined craft which had carried out most of the raids, again attacked. They dropped heavy bombs which caused severe damage to buildings left standing.

"Next day there was no raid, but on the 20th large numbers of dive-bombers, apparently operating from a carrier, attacked.

"On Dec. 21 the enemy withheld his hand, then came back on the 22d for the kill. Both land based and carrier operated planes attacked in large force—how large was never reported.

"Among the carrier planes were modern fighters. Nevertheless, against these overwhelming odds, Wake's two planes went up to give battle. Several enemy planes were shot down but one of the Wake pilots was lost and the second forced down, wounded. Wake had no further air defenses and the enemy closed in rapidly from sea after that. The island was shelled heavily and continuously, a barrage being laid down behind which the enemy began a landing attempt.

Garrison Gallant to Last.

"Early the morning of Dec. 22 Wake reported in the next to its final dispatch that the enemy was on the island. Then for the first time did the courageous garrison admit the battle was lost and even then in as gallant a bit of understatement as a brave man ever wrote.

"'The issue is in doubt,' the dispatch related. That was the end. The last report said the enemy had gained a foothold and that more ships and a transport were moving in. Even in this final phase the Wake batteries blasted away with great effect.

"The last phrase of the last dispatch was the statement that two of the enemy destroyers had been disabled. In all, the Wake garrison shot down at least a dozen enemy planes and took a toll of at least five enemy warships—three destroyers, a cruiser, and a submarine."

Patriot Honored

Twelve hundred Americans of Filipino ancestry observed the 45th anniversary of the martyrdom of Dr. José Rizal, Filipino patriot who was executed by the Spaniards in 1896, at a dinner in the Hotel Sherman last night.

Mayor Kelly, principal speaker, said, "I believe none of us ever will forget the day those animals pounced on us." He urged all present to give their aid in the present crisis, "and we'll regain 1,000 fold all that we have lost."

The mayor paid tribute to the Filipinos for fighting against oppression nearly 50 years ago, and said he knew they were ready again.

12 RESCUED, TELL OF SHIP SUNK BY SUB IN PACIFIC

Believe Manini Skipper and 20 Others Lost.

BY JAN JABULKA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 28.—The sinking of the 6,000 ton Matson line freighter Manini by a torpedo fired by a submarine at dusk on Dec. 17, with the probable loss of Capt. George Sidon and 20 other members of the crew, was revealed here today with the arrival of 12 survivors aboard a naval vessel. They had been adrift for 10 days.

Orin Jewett, one of those rescued, said the Manini was proceeding under sealed orders 18 hours out of Honolulu when attacked without warning. He said he felt only a slight jar.

Two Other Boats Launched.

Jewett and his 11 companions succeeded in launching a lifeboat despite heavy seas which repeatedly sent the boat lurching back against the side of the freighter. He believed other members of the crew lowered two lifeboats on the lee side of the ship.

The freighter sank 18 minutes after being hit. Jewett thereafter saw no signs of other lifeboats.

After two days adrift Jewett's party sighted an army plane, but signaled without recognition. The next day an unidentified plane dropped food and gave the men their position—153 miles from Honolulu. The day following a navy plane dropped food and water and sent word the coast guard would pick up the party.

Passed by Coast Guard.

After that nothing happened until Christmas eve, when a plane appeared and asked if help were needed. They saw a coast guard vessel approaching, but it passed them by, and it was not until yesterday that the naval craft found them.

Jewett said there were no casualties among the crew as a result of the torpedoing. He related that the submarine lay 200 yards away and played a searchlight on the sinking Manini as the lifeboat was being lowered. He said it submerged without firing from the deck or any exchange of words.

At the same time 13 members of the crew of the 7,000 ton freighter Prusa, also sunk by a submarine on Dec. 17, were brought ashore. The Prusa had a crew of 34. Nine men were killed when a torpedo hit the sleeping quarters of the ship.

NAZI PLANE LANDS FOUR IN IRELAND, BUT NO GENERALS

DUBLIN, Ireland, Dec. 28 (AP).—Informed sources declared tonight there was no truth to rumors current in Northern Ireland that two of Adolf Hitler's generals, one of them Field Marshal Gen. Walther von Brauchitsch, had landed in County Kerry from a forced down German airplane.

Such a plane did come down Friday in County Kerry, near Waterville on Ireland's southwest coast, but no important Nazi was among its four occupants, these sources said. They asserted none held a rank higher than sergeant, none was more than 28 years old, and all were bona fide German airmen.

London Hears Nothing.

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP).—A British source declared tonight that "absolutely nothing" was known here about a report that an important Nazi personage had landed by airplane in Ireland.

RESCUE MANILA STATUE OF OUR LADY OF ROSARY

MANILA, Dec. 28 (AP).—The Philippines' most famed Catholic statue, Our Lady of the Rosary, survived the Japanese raid which sent the equally famous old Spanish Santo Domingo church to flaming destruction.

The venerated image of the Virgin Mary was saved by priests and church servants who braved the flames and entered the church shortly after bombs had wrecked the bell tower and roof.

The statue, with its elaborate jeweled clock, worth $500,000, was found unmarred and carried to nearby, undamaged convent.

Wreath from President Laid on Woodrow Wilson Tomb

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—A wreath from President Roosevelt was laid today on the tomb of Woodrow Wilson, chief executive of the nation in the other World war, who was born on this date 85 years ago. Col. Horace Smith, a White House military attaché, represented the President at the quiet ceremony in Washington cathedral. Bishop James E. Freeman offered the prayer.

BOMBER CAN MAKE A WRITER MARCH ON STOMACH, TOO

Tribune Man Tries Army Crawl in Malaya.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH ADVANCED BRITISH FORCES AT IPOH, Northern Malaya, Dec. 26 [Delayed].—The correspondent of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE spent Christmas and the day after in advanced sectors of the Malaya front, much of the time flat on his stomach while Japanese dive bombers unloaded from a height of 400 feet or less.

As the bombers dropped their loads, fighters circled overhead, watching for British planes.

This morning the correspondents' party of four cars was the object of attack by four dive bombers. They circled at 600 feet, taking a good look at us, then speeded off one at a time and came in dropping their loads from a very low altitude. At the same time they machine gunned us.

Bombs Drop Pretty Close.

The bombs dropped very close, showering us with débris, but we were flat on the ground and nobody was hurt. Your correspondent's greatest trouble was from ants, since, in his haste, he had thrown himself down on an ant hill.

Empire troops fired on the Japanese with rifles and some machine guns opened up nearby; but we didn't bag any.

Before we were bombed, 17 planes passed overhead going south. Later, it was learned that they had bombed Kuala Lumpur, 250 miles north of Singapore. Two British fighters went up to battle 17 Japanese planes.

Fighting is now going on along the Perak river, north of Ipoh, where the British hope to make a stand. Bridges and roads have been blown up. There are unconfirmed reports that isolated Japanese patrols have succeeded in crossing the stream, which is about 200 yards wide.

Leave no Goods for Japs.

In Ipoh, crowds of Malayans are swarming into stores, which have been forbidden to close, emptying them of food, clothing, shoes, and goods of all kinds to prevent the Japanese from getting them. Chinese merchants halted us, crying, "They are breaking into my shop. Please help me!" However, it is generally agreed that it is better to let anybody but the Japanese have the goods.

Christmas began at 5 a. m. for The Tribune correspondent, when he arose and with four other reporters left Kuala Lumpur for the front, 175 miles north. Our vehicles were driven by Malayans, not all of whom were good drivers.

In attempting to pass a truck, the driver of the film van in which I was riding, ran off the road, and we landed in a swamp. Aside from bruises nobody was hurt, altho Norman Fisher, British newsreel photographer, acting as aircraft spotter on top our truck, was flung off into the water. All The Tribune correspondent's baggage, including his typewriter, went under two feet of muddy water, and most of it was ruined.

Hangs Clothes on Film.

Fisher's camera film also was under water. I took 25 feet of discarded movie film, strung it up between two rubber trees, and hung my clothing out to dry.

We eventually succeeded in righting the film van and getting it back on the road. A light American truck, it seemed to be undamaged and ran as well as ever. However, we decided to do our own driving, since this is the second accident we have had within the hour. Earlier, the baggage truck had been sidewiped, ripping off its top.

I spent Christmas night at the home of a French mining engineer in Kampar. Earlier in the day we had "requisitioned" a box of festival "crackers" from the Majestic hotel in Ipoh—the kind that go off with a bang and disgorge a paper hat when you pull both ends. With the gay hats and a bottle of wine, a Christmas dinner of bully beef and biscuits did not seem too bad.

Meets Escaped Britons.

This morning I met four British officers who escaped from Penang in a 12 day trip down the west coast of Malaya. They had been cut off in the jungles of northern Kedah province, and had rowed 20 miles across the sea in sampans to the island fortress of Penang, off the west coast of Malaya, hoping to rejoin the British there. They found that the troops had gone, and a committee was running the town. Public buildings were flying white flags.

Japanese residents interned by the British at the outbreak of the war had been released and they fired on the British officers as the latter attempted to escape in confiscated junks [native sail boats].

Five of these junks ran aground, one after another, before the officers finally got away in the sixth.

The British officers had no food for five days; finally, they were able to get rice and bananas.

All had 12 day growths of beard, and were dressed in dirty, ragged clothes. However, aside from sunburn, they seemed to be in good physical condition.

WAR BOND STAFF GETS FIRST DAY OFF SINCE DEC. 8

Defense bonds and stamps employés of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago yesterday had their first day off since Dec. 8, the day after Japan attacked America. They took this breathing spell in preparation for the expected continuing heavy demand for defense securities, of which about $30,000,000 worth have been sold in less than three weeks in the bank area.

Public Service offices of THE TRIBUNE in the lobby of Tribune Tower and at 1 South Dearborn street also were prepared for brisk sales this week. Since the bonds and stamps have been available at these convenient locations, as of Dec. 24, more than $5,500 worth have been sold.

Among purchasers at the Public Service offices were the following: Walter Ziolo, 2334 Augusta boulevard, $18.75; George O. Wolf, 926 Ridge court, Evanston, $18.75; Mrs. Hattie Riddle, 6151 Winthrop avenue, $18.75; Michael Wilkomirski, 2910 North Kolmar avenue, W-G-N violinist, $75; Miss Mary L. JAP "FRIENDSHIP" LEAFLETS LURE MANY TO DEATH

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, Dec. 29 [Monday] (AP).—The Netherlands East Indies government warned the population of the islands today not to run out to retrieve propaganda leaflets dropped from Japanese aircraft because of the danger of being machine-gunned.

The Japanese, it was explained, have been known to scatter leaflets to lure people from their shelters, only to spray them with lead from their fighter planes. This was done in Penang where people picking up leaflets assuring them of Japan's friendship were machine-gunned.

Japan's efforts to win over the natives to their side are meeting with little success in these islands, the Dutch news agency Aneta reported today. The native press as well as the European is calling the Japanese "murderers" and "terrorizers" for their bombing of the open city of Manila.

BRITISH WOUNDED BY EXPLOSIVES IN MOVIE CAMERAS

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP).—The first wounded to return from the Libyan campaign disclosed today the retreating axis armies had left a trail of fountain pens and movie cameras filled with explosives and that they had caused many British casualties. The pens exploded when the ends were removed and the cameras blew up when the cranks were turned. Explosive and incendiary packages were dropped by planes. Some served as land mines, blowing up when vehicles passed over, while others contained substances that stuck to wheels and started fires.

SINGAPORE RESTS EASIER AS BRITISH BEAT BACK JAPS

Repel Attack Above Ipoh; RAF Renews Drive.

SINGAPORE, Dec. 28 (AP).—Optimism overshadowed anxiety for the first time today as British Malaya began its fourth week of war in the Pacific with the announcement that imperial troops had beaten back the Japanese, inflicting heavy losses, in the Chemor area of Perak state.

Chemor is a railroad point 12 miles north of Ipoh, the most vital mining and communications center in Perak state, about 290 airline miles from Singapore. The British forces were backed by artillery.

Most hopeful developments to the British were assurances from Washington and London that Malaya's pressing need for men and armaments would be met and the fact that during the past week the enemy's drive toward Singapore had lost its initial impetus.

RAF Resumes Offensive.

Malaya's spirits were lifted further by the RAF's return to the offensive. Following up a successful raid earlier in the week, British bombers last night again blasted the Patani airdrome in northwest Malaya where at least 10 enemy planes were said officially to have been destroyed on the ground, others damaged and many fires started.

The British yesterday also beat off Japanese patrols at a strategic ferry crossing over the Perak river, which parallels the British positions along the Malayan north-south railroad, about 15 miles southwest of Ipoh.

Applying "Indian warfare" methods learned in the early days of the invasion, an official announcement said, the British killed at least 60 Japanese in an ambush in northern Perak.

Ambush Japanese Cyclists.

After an enemy bicycle vanguard was allowed thru a British position the defenders opened a lethal fire, annihilating the main force. The ambush, it said, was repeated when the Japanese attempted a flanking attack.

In desperation, it said, some Japanese shed their shoes and scrambled up trees to escape the withering British fire but were methodicaly picked off by snipers.

Enemy trucks smashed by British artillery Saturday on the eastern Malaya coast about 180 miles north of Singapore were said to have been carrying patrols which apparently filtered thru from the Kota Bharu zone where the original enemy landing in Malaya was made Dec. 8.

Hold Third of Malaya: Japs.

TOKIO, Dec. 28. [Official radio recorded by Associated Press].—A Nichi Nichi dispatch declared approximately one-third of the Malay peninsula is in Japanese hands, and that the British so far have lost 12 infantry battalions, two mountain artillery battalions, and three companies of engineers. Fifteen thousand Indian troops deserted to the Japanese side, Nichi Nichi declared.

Domei news agency said the Japanese had the northern state of Perak virtually in their hands and were pressing against the frontier of Selangor state to the south.

NAZIS REPORTED QUITTING TURKEY PRIOR TO ATTACK

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

ANKARA, Turkey, Dec. 28.—Reports that German nationals in Turkey are returning to Germany in advance of preparations for a German attack via Bulgaria circulated here and in Istanbul over the week end.

The rumors, traced to German personages in Istanbul and their Ankara aides, took the form of "confidential information" passed to neutral diplomats.

There are no indications that the Germans plan to leave the country in large numbers altho several Istanbul Germans have cancelled leases on their apartments. The German colony here includes the diplomatic corps, businessmen and commercial agents.

Italy Decrees Death Penalty for Libyan Food Hoarders

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 28 (AP).—An official Italian news agency dispatch said today that the death penalty had been decreed in Libya for grave cases of food hoarding.

WRECKS OF WAR VEHICLES FLANK ROADS OF LIBYA

British Give Axis Foes No Time to Rest.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE BRITISH ADVANCED FORCES IN LIBYA, Dec. 24 [Delayed].—The fighting along the Libyan coast is in country that reminds me of Kalpaki, where the Greeks first halted the Italian advance in Greece, and then turned it into a retreat. This country is not as mountainous, but it is green, hilly and rocky. The red soil is wooded with scrubby evergreens.

Yesterday, I was delayed in the trip westward along the coast, like everybody else, because the roads from Cirene to Barce were blown off the cliffsides by the retreating axis forces.

Today, we rolled westward over an excellent macadam road which had been laid by the famed Italian road builders. In 75 miles from Cirene, we were not molested by axis aircraft, but saw ample evidence of the work of the British air force on retreating axis forces.

Wreckage of Axis Vehicles.

We saw 62 vehicles wrecked by the road, not counting a 6 inch field gun and a fine new anti-aircraft gun, and not counting a vehicle parking area with at least 50 trucks in it burned to a crisp.

Then we negotiated a temporary repair in a blown up road and entered Barce. We gave up trying to count destroyed vehicles. There was a whole great yard full, where bombs had hit.

The fall of one town or another already is an old story for the army—it has its eyes farther ahead. There are many forces hitting in many places and the axis forces are moving back fast.

Last year the British had only the Italians facing them and it took 59 days to fight across Cirenaica to Bengazi. This year, with the German armored divisions under Gen. Erwin Rommel facing them, the British have covered the ground in 36 days of fighting.

Too Busy for Christmas.

When an Englishman is too busy to celebrate Christmas, he is really busy. But that is what is happening in Libya today. The British are busy following the Italians and Germans wherever they can find them and pushing as hard and as fast as they know how. They are busy because they do not intend to relax and give the axis forces an opportunity to collect themselves.

The British attack is not always along the main roads from town to town, but rather a series of several columns striking along more or less parallel lines swinging west and then northwest from Egypt. These columns entered Libya on Nov. 18 to 20 at different points, and struck across the desert toward objectives. Now they are out of the desert.

LEADERS REVIEW VICTORIOUS JAPS IN HONGKONG

TOKIO, Dec. 28 [Official radio recorded by Associated Press.].—Victorious Japanese held a formal triumphal review in the former British crown colony of Hongkong this afternoon, three days after its surrender.

Vice Adm. Masaichi Niimi and Lieut. Gen. Ryu Sakai who commanded the navy and army forces in the campaign against Hongkong, reviewed their troops at Kowloon, on the mainland, then crossed to the scene of the first Japanese landing on Hongkong Island on Dec. 18.

Arriving in Victoria on horseback, the two commanders inspected army units which lined two and a half miles of Queens road, while army and navy planes roared overhead. The two commanders then addressed an assembly of detachment commanders in the governor general's residence.

More than 6,000 British prisoners have been counted up to Dec. 27, it was announced.

Chinese Hurl Japanese Column Back Ten Miles

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 28 (AP).—The Chinese reported today that their forces counterattacked Japanese troops driving upon Changsha, capital of Hunan province, and hurled the invaders back 10 miles at one point between the Sinsiang and Milo rivers. This Japanese column was within 50 miles of Changsha. Two others, considerably farther from the provincial capital, were reported making little progress.

BOMBERS POUND AXIS LIFELINE IN NORTHERN AFRICA

British and 'Free French' Join in Attacks.

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 28 (AP).—Units of the RAF, with the aid of "Free French" bombers, have struck fresh blows at the axis lifeline in Libya, British headquarters reported today, while tank supported British troops maintained continuously increasing pressure on the main force of the German Gen. Erwin Rommel's North African army.

British and French war planes not only blasted axis motor transport and fuel tank trucks southwest of Agedabia, where Rommel's forces are engaged, but also were said to have ranged far to the west in raids on ships and supplies in the principal Libyan port of Tripoli and the harbor of Zuara, a railhead 70 miles farther west and only 30 miles from the border of French Tunisia.

[London observers on Saturday expressed a conviction that the axis is rushing heavy reënforcements to Tripoli in spite of the constant toll of transports being taken by the British fleet in the Mediterranean.]

Bombers Raid Tripoli.

The attacks on Tripoli and Zuara took place Friday night. At Tripoli, capital of Libya and only major supply port in axis hands since the fall of Bengazi, the bombers have scored direct hits on ships in the harbor, started a large fire, and machine gunned a transport steaming in the direction of Homs, 70 miles to the east.

Two merchant ships were the principal targets at Zuara, the communique reported, and one of them exploded as the result of a direct hit. Supply dumps in the town also were bombed.

Wipe Out Last Resistance.

Meanwhile Lieut. Gen. Neil M. Ritchie's 8th army, the middle east command said, has wiped out virtually all resistance in the 90 mile area from Bengazi south to Agedabia, where the main battle is in progress. Small pockets of axis resistance in that area are being mopped up, the communique said.

British source declared Gen. Rommel's "considerable forces" were being assaulted constantly at Agedabia, but that it was not yet clear whether the axis commander was making a definite stand or merely fighting a delaying action in the hope of obtaining reinforcements.

Capture of court martial records of the German air force during the advance in Cyrenaica have disclosed numerous cases of "regrettable clashes" between Nazi and Italian airmen.

Repulse British Tank Assault.

ROME, Dec. 28 [Official broadcast recorded by Associated Press].—The Italian high command asserted today that axis forces south of the fallen Libyan port of Bengazi had repulsed a tank-supported British assault but acknowledged that some prisoners had fallen into the hands of the attackers.

The daily war bulletin mentioned artillery activity in the Solium and Bardia sectors near the Libyan-Egyptian frontier and said German planes had repeatedly attacked airports in the British rear, damaging tanks and grounded aircraft and causing many fires.

The British Mediterranean base of Malta was attacked again by German air raiders.

Claim Attacks Frustrated.

BERLIN, Dec. 28 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—The high command communique today said "British attacks on German-Italian positions in North Africa were frustrated. Formations of the German air force successfully attacked British airdromes, motorized columns, and encampments in Cirenaica."

UNTRAINED NAZI BOYS ROUTED IN BATTLE: MOSCOW

Reds Gain Ground on Two Sides of Capital.

MOSCOW, Dec. 28 (AP).—Raw German youths of 17 and 18 years, composing most of an entire German division, dropped their arms and fled at the first Russian assault in the Kalinin sector, 95 miles northwest of Moscow, Red army dispatches reported today as the Russian counter-offensive continued to regain ground both north and south of the capital.

Panic was said to have spread and untrained reënforcements from the transport and clerical sections of the German army were reported to have been rushed into the breach in a desperate effort to stem the rout.

Reoccupy 332 Towns and Villages.

The soviet information bureau said 332 towns and villages have been reoccupied in the area in the last 10 days.

The roads west and southwest of Kalinin on the frozen upper Volga river were described in dispatches as littered with equipment abandoned by the young German soldiers.

A column of trucks in working order and with their tanks full of fuel, an artillery battery complete with shell-filled cases, and 20 motorcycles were among the material hastily abandoned by the Germans, Russian accounts said.

The official communique listed 103 tanks, 180 guns, 86 mortars, six flame throwers, 1,323 trucks, 348 motorcycles, eight planes, and six radio stations among the war equipment seized during the 10 day period in the sector.

Widen Fanlike Offensives.

South of Moscow, the Red army widened its fanlike offensive across the Oka river between Kaluga and Orel, threatening the rear of these two major communication centers in the heart of European Russia. Kaluga is about 100 miles south of the capital and Orel about 200 miles.

The Russians pushed thru Likhvin, 30 miles south of Kaluga and 50 miles west of Tula, and on thru Belev, about 50 miles southeast of Kaluga. They thus were menacing the German line of retreat westward from Kaluga toward Smolensk, 220 miles west of Moscow.

Besides driving between Kaluga and Orel, the Russians also were pressing a frontal assault toward Orel by taking 24 settlements and the town of Novosil, 40 miles east of that rail center.

Eighty miles farther south, the Russians already had announced the occupation of Tim, 40 miles east of Kursk on the main Moscow-Kharkov railway.

Lose 120,000 Men in a Month.

New York, Dec. 28 (AP).—The British radio quoted a Kuibyshev broadcast today as saying that from Nov. 25 to Dec. 25 the Germans lost 120,000 officers and men on the Moscow front alone.

Destroy 5 Small Transports.

BERLIN, Dec. 28 [Official radio, recorded by Associated Press].—The high command today reported the destruction of three more small transports and the damaging of four others and a gunboat in the narrow Kerch strait by string dive bomber formations. The Kerch strait lies between the Crimea and the Russian Caucasus.

The high command announced yesterday that four transports were sunk and five damaged in that passage.

Breaches in the German lines in the southern sector of the Russian front were closed and the Russians thrown back by a determined counterattack, the high command asserted.

On the Moscow front "strong enemy attacks were halted in hard fighting," it was stated. "Weak enemy attacks in the northern sector of the front also were repulsed."

Finns Repulse Attacks.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 28 (AP).—Russian attacks on all Finnish fronts were acknowledged in a war communique today but it said they were repulsed everywhere.

The war bulletin gave no specific details of place or strength of the Russian assaults but cited Red army initiative on the Karelian isthmus, along the Svir river and on the northern and eastern fronts.

EDEN AND STALIN CONFER ON WAR MOVES, POLICIES

Declare Prime Objective Defeat of Hitlerism.

LONDON, Dec. 29 [Monday] (AP).—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Premier Josef Stalin have been in conference in Moscow for the last two weeks and have reached an agreement in full on conduct of the war and especially on "the necessity for the utter defeat of Hitlerite Germany," the foreign office disclosed at midnight.

Anthony Eden.

Eden and Stalin were talking in the Kremlin at the same time Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt were conferring in the White House. The four statesmen in their two conferences kept in constant touch with each other. The dominion and allied governments were kept informed. Of the Eden-Stalin conference, the foreign office said:

"The conversations, which took place in a friendly atmosphere, showed an identity of views of both parties on all questions relating to the conduct of the war, and especially with regard to the necessity for the utter defeat of Hitlerite Germany and adoption of measures to render completely impossible any repetition of German aggression in the future.

Provides "Useful Material."

"An exchange of views on questions relating to the postwar organization of peace and security in Europe provided much important and useful material which will facilitate future elaboration of concrete proposals on this subject.

"Both parties are convinced that the Moscow conversations constitute a new important forward step toward closer collaboration between the soviet union and Great Britain."

Besides Eden and Stalin, the soviet foreign commissar, Vyacheslav Molotov, and ambassador to Britain, I. M. Maisky, attended, along with Lieut. Gen. Archibald Nye, vice chief of the British imperial staff; Sir Stafford Cripps, the British ambassador to Moscow, and Sir Alexander Cadogan, permanent secretary of state for foreign affairs.

Agree on Concerted Action.

The United States, Britain, and Russia thru the two conferences were understood to have agreed upon concerted action thruout the world on land, on the sea, and in the air, and in addition were understood to have made equally important decisions on production, on a common pooling of war material, and on a common diplomatic policy.

Military representatives of China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek were understood to have been present at the Moscow conferences, as well as the British ambassador to Turkey, Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Huggesen, and the minister to Iran [Persia], Sir Reader Bullard.

Commentators predicted a closer Chinese-Russian collaboration in the far east.

British Hopes for Victory Rise Amid Fears of New Nazi Push

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 28.—As the new year approaches, Britain views the outlook with high hopes mixed with some misgivings. Even now the storm clouds presaging Adolf Hitler's intentions for the near future, together with the severe reverses in the Pacific, overshadow what are regarded here as brilliant victories on the Russian and Libyan fronts.

Probably more than any single factor raising British hopes is the announcement from Washington, D. C., that President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, together with representatives from the dominions, Russia, China, and other allies, are quickly working out concerted war strategy.

Problems Confronting Alliance.

Comments on the urgency of preparations in the Mediterranean, on Australian demands that the war in the Pacific be not regarded as a sideshow, coupled with other opinions expressed here that the main front is in Russia, indicate the problems.

"The grand alliance will win the war and have peace in its hands," the Sunday Express predicts, but warns "there can be no dragooning in any federation of the world."

It admits the "Russian policy is in conflict with those of the western democracies," and that "the Chinese belong to the east, not to the west."

However, it urges a "fusion of the British empire and the United States, with shared interests and policies in armaments, commerce, personal liberty . . ." as the basis of "a world of permanent peace and permanent sufficiency for all."

Criticism for America.

America, too, comes in for its share of the criticism. Hannen Swaffer, writing in the Sunday People, does not spare the United States for misjudging the Pacific situation, quoting an official of the American embassy as saying: "We are thinking of dressing our blue jackets in kilts, so that next time they cannot be caught with their trousers down."

Speculating on Hitler's next move, Maj. Turner, aviation writer for News of the World, expresses the opinion that unless the Germans succeed in taking Sevastopol, he rules out action in the Caucasus, and expresses the opinion the Luftwaffe will strike in the Mediterranean, from Vichy bases in Europe and Africa, and in coöperation with the "army advance thru Spain."

BRITISH ASSAULT NORWAY COAST IN SURPRISE RAID

Withdraw After Sharp Blows at Shipping.

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP).—A British army force—probably the tough Commandos—joined hands with the royal navy and the RAF yesterday in a successful, lightning invasion thrust against a Nazi stronghold in German occupied Norway, it was disclosed tonight.

Altho there has not yet been any official statement as to where the raid was made, an admiralty announcement that it was directed "mainly against shipping," coupled with an RAF communique of an attack last night on the Sola airdrome near Stavanger, was taken as an indication the landing was made at or near that important port.

The "Biggest Feather Yet."

Military observers pointed out that such a raid, carried out under the noses of a strong Nazi force as is known to be at Stavanger, would be the "biggest feather yet" in the cap of the Commandos—Britain's famous if mysterious hand picked troops which already have carried out other forays against German occupied territories—even if the operation was on a "small scale," as the admiralty reported.

The only other information offered by the admiralty, which promised further news "as soon as details are available," was that all ships taking part in the raid had returned "fit for immediate service."

The RAF, which last night bombarded targets in industrial western Germany, in Holland, and in France, apparently returned to the attack this afternoon, for observers in a south coast town watched strong formations of British bombers, with fighter plane escorts, roaring out over the channel in the direction of the French coast.

Bombers Raid Duesseldorf.

The air ministry reported that a "powerful force" of bombers raided Duesseldorf, one of the Ruhr valley's chief manufacturing cities, last night.

At the Soesterberg airdrome in Holland the RAF planes loosed their bombs on the runways just as Nazi aircraft were landing, while still other forces attacked the naval base of Brest, where German battleships are taking shelter, and the harbor works at Boulogne.

Nazis Admit Two Landings.

BERLIN, Dec. 28 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—British naval forces which made two surprise landings on the Norwegian coast were driven back to their ships in short, violent engagements yesterday and one of the destroyers of the fleeing warship formation was sunk, a German communique declared today.

A cruiser and another destroyer were damaged by pursuing German aircraft, and 10 bombers of the heavily air-supported British expedition were shot down in sharp dogfights and thick anti-aircraft fire, it said.

The German patrol boat Foehn was sent down under the crashing fire of the cruiser and several destroyers as they bore down on the isolated Norwegian coast, the communique continued, but not until after the patrol boat in a "heroic struggle" had shot down one of the swarm of attacking bombers.

The British warships also sank several Norwegian coastal steamers in their attack.

British Announce Sinking of 2 Naval Service Vessels

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP).—The admiralty announced tonight that the auxiliary vessel Chakdina, a converted 3,033 ton passenger vessel, and the former yacht Rosabelle, also in the British naval service, had been sunk but gave no details.

ISLANDERS VOTE FOR 'FREE FRENCH' BY 98 PER CENT

ST. PIERRE, Dec. 28 (AP).—The "Free French" information bureau announced tonight the question of Free French rule over St. Pierre and Miquelon Islands has been "definitely established" by final returns from a plebiscite showing 98.2 per cent for Gen. Charles De Gaulle's leadership.

It announced the vote was 783 for "Free France," 215 void, and 14 for collaboration with Vichy.

The bureau said this overwhelming majority was registered "despite propaganda from Vichy, despite the presence of a representative of the Vichy government during the voting and despite the fear of foreign intervention." St. Pierre and Miquelon have been in the hands of the "Free French" since Christmas eve.

Promises to Exchange Views.

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP). — "Free French" headquarters announced tonight there will be an "exchange of views" between Gen. Charles de Gaulle and allied governments on diplomatic questions involved in the occupation of the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon off Newfoundland. The United States has described the "Free French" occupation of the French possessions as "arbitrary" and done without consultation with Washington.

NAZIS' FORTUNES SKID, NATION WAR SICK, EARLE SAYS

Believes 'Death Throes' May Be Violent.

ISTANBUL, Dec. 27 [Delayed] (AP).—George H. Earle, the United States minister to Bulgaria, and all his legation staff arrived in Istanbul today after being hurried out of Bulgaria amid rumors of a Nazi plot against them to create an incident.

George H. Earle.

Instead of being put on the train at the station in the center of Sofia, Earle and his staff were taken at the last minute to little used stations on the outskirts of the Bulgarian capital.

Members of the legation staff said the Bulgars blamed the Russians, saying that "there is danger the Russians are planning a bombing to make it appear that Bulgaria is violating diplomatic protection." The general opinion among the legation staff, however, was that the Bulgars heard in advance of a Nazi plot to create an incident, and that they had used this device to keep Bulgaria's record clean.

"German Fortunes Declining."

Earle said that "German fortunes definitely are declining, but the death throes may be unprecedentedly violent." He added that there was some evidence that the Germans are planning to destroy utterly everything in any occupied countries they are forced to leave.

Assumption of personal command of the army by Adolf Hitler sickened the German people and soldiers alike, he said, adding that a monotonous dreariness prevails thruout Germany and among her satellites so that it is impossible to distinguish the conquerors from the conquered.

The hospitals of Rumania and Hungary, Earle said, are choked with German wounded from eastern front hospital trains arriving constantly, creating an ever-deepening gloom.

Drive Thru Snowstorm.

Today's arrivals including Maj. Cornelius C. Jadwin, the legation military attaché, reached here after a hard automobile and train journey thru the worst snowstorm experienced in European Turkey in many years.

All nondiplomatic American residents in Bulgaria, numbering about 20, had to be left behind because the Nazi-controled Bulgarian police would not permit them to cross the border even tho the Bulgarian foreign office had issued them exit visas. Bulgaria has declared war on the United States.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

THE QUESTION.

What slang expression is most annoying to you?

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

Carol Highfield, proof machine operator, 5245 North Sawyer avenue—There's nothing I dislike more than to be cut short in an argument. Nothing can put such a sudden stop to all my long logical explanations as to have some one come back with, "So what!" There is nothing left to be said and at the same time the phrase seems to do such a good job of belittling what I've said.

Margaret Drexel, clerk, 820 West 57th street—Whatever slang phrase my husband brings home after the day's work—that's my pet annoyance. When he gets home early I know he's going to pop in with, "Well, I flew de coop tonight." And then when I've had a pay day it's, "Are ya poppin' tonight?" Those really get me. He has a lot of other ones, too.

Bernard Good, salesman, 7616 Phillips avenue—Too much slang has worked its way into our language, and I'll admit lots of it is fairly acceptable. But when people continue to use such senseless slang phrases as, "O, yeah, sez you!" it burns me up—to resort to some of that good old American slang.

Edith Janule, receptionist, 1910 South 51st avenue, Cicero, Ill.—I spend a good part of my day at the switchboard carrying on the formal kind of talk necessary by us operators. Over those wires I often hear a slang phrase that's annoying and seems much out of place. When I tell a person that the line they're calling is busy, many of them say, "Gosh dern, just my luck."

Margaret Lally, secretary, 2643 Burr Oak avenue, Blue Island, Ill.—I find all slang sort of annoying, especially when there are many very good words that do a better job of expressing the point. But one that particularly annoys me is "O. K." It's used so much by every one that it's overworked. I think it sounds worse to hear a woman say it.

Charles Meloun, student, 3531 South 58th court, Cicero, Ill.—The boys in my neighborhood gang use quite a bit of slang and sometimes do a little too much swearing. What bothers me is to hear one of them—and that's when he's real mad too—say, "Well, doggone!" That sounds sissified to me and I think it would be better not to say anything.

TIRE TREADERS ALREADY UNABLE TO FILL ORDERS

12 Chicago Firms Seeking Rubber from U. S.

If the wheels of Chicago's 675,000 passenger cars and 65,000 trucks are to be kept rolling next year, the government must come to the aid of the tire recappers and retreaders, Michael F. Mulcahy, local tire rationing administrator, was told yesterday.

Representatives of 12 recapping and retreading firms presented this picture to Mulcahy and Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, at a Sunday conference in Hewitt's office:

1. The city's 675,000 passenger cars ordinarily consume 1¼ tires a year, or a total of 843,650 tires.

2. An additional 65,000 trucks require two tires a year or a total of 130,000—973,750 tires for both automobiles and trucks.

3. Tire dealers have on hand about 162,300 tires, only one-sixth of next year's demand.

All Lack Supplies.

Not a single firm has enough camelback [recapping and retreading rubber] to take care of present orders, they told Mulcahy, and orders already have increased 40 per cent over last year.

In the ordinary tire, 6 by 16 inches, there is 12 to 14 pounds of rubber, they pointed out. To top cap the tire requires from 6 to 6½ pounds, a saving of 50 per cent while adding from 60 to 80 per cent to its life.

Local firms, they said, have sufficient molds and other equipment to take care of three times their present orders—if rubber is released to them.

Mayor to Hear Troubles.

The recappers and retreaders asked Mulcahy to present their case to Mayor Kelly today. A formal demand for additional rubber will be made soon, it was indicated.

Capt. George Teeling of the police stolen auto detail, cautioned automobile owners yesterday to record the serial numbers of their tires as a safeguard against an expected wave of thefts.

Thus far, no noticeable outbreak of tire thefts has occurred, Capt. Teeling said, but an increase is expected when the tire shortage becomes acute.

22 Tires Stolen Yesterday.

Up to last night, 538 tire thefts had been reported in Chicago this year, compared with 578 in 1940. That includes 22 tires stolen yesterday in a burglary at the A. W. Mack garage, 1500 West 95th street, the only wholesale tire thievery since the sale of tires was banned.

A few months ago 600 automobile tires were auctioned off by the police department for want of identification, Capt. Teeling said. "If the automobile owner reports his tire serial number, we have an excellent chance of restoring the stolen property to its owner. If not, it's impossible to identify a tire."

Many Recovered.

Since 1934 10 policemen have been assigned to the stolen tire detail, Capt. Teeling said. The policemen make the rounds of tire dealers and recover "about 95 per cent" of the stolen tires, he added.

As an example of the motorist's negligence in filing away the serial numbers, Capt. Teeling leafed thru recent reports. Of the last 61 stolen tires, only 6 motorists knew the numbers. "If found the six motorists will recover their property," Capt. Teeling said. "The others have no means of identifying their property."

8 TRAPPED IN COAL MINE BY GAS BLAST; 7 BODIES RECOVERED

Harrisburg, Ill., Dec. 28 [Special].—Rescue squads today recovered the bodies of seven of a crew of eight men who were trapped by an explosion in Peabody coal mine No. 47 at Harco, seven miles northwest of here. Search continued for the eighth man.

Arrow indicates Harco, Ill.

The explosion, which occurred about 3:30 a. m., trapped the eight 600 feet underground and a mile and a half from the base of the shaft. Eight workers fled to safety and two others, were injured.

The blast was believed to have been caused by a short circuit which ignited an accumulation of gas.

Those whose bodies were recovered were identified as McCoy Cobb, 36 years old, of Eldorado, the foreman; Charles Pemberton, 30, Marion; H. J. Smith, 40, Galatia; John Fletcher, 49, Thompsonville, and Orval Dougherty, 40; William Strange, 46, and Roy Donaldson, 32, all of Harco. All were electricians. The eighth man trapped was identified as Harold Holden, 30, of Harrisburg, an examiner employed by the mine company.

MAYOR ASSERTS 5 BOMBS FOUND IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 28 (AP).—Five small packages and a cylinder that acting Mayor Bernard Samuel termed "bombs of an incendiary nature" were found today on pier 11 on the Delaware river.

Discovery of the packages and the cylinder, each filled with black powder attached to fuses, raised fears of a sabotage plot to this highly industrialized area. The pier is near the Delaware river bridge connecting Philadelphia and Camden, N. J. and also close to the 36 inch intake pipe that feeds water into the city's high pressure fire fighting system.

AUTOS EXPECTED TO FOLLOW TIRES IN RATIONING

Other Consumer Goods May Be Curbed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—A system of strict rationing, imposed on new automobile tires beginning Jan. 5, may soon be extended to new automobiles, light trucks, and other consumers' goods, according to reports in the capital tonight.

Officials have admitted that the tire rationing system, which limits the available supply to only the most essential civilian users and bars sales to most private motorists, would form the pattern for application to other manufactured products.

Auto Rationing Probable.

Officials are said to regard rationing of new automobiles as inevitable, with the available supplies supposedly being reserved for police, fire fighting, and health services and to insure war production and essential construction. Physicians and hospitals would be among the qualified purchasers as they will also be allowed new tires and tubes under the rubber rationing program.

Other products to which the rationing system might be applied could include electric refrigerators and washing machines, where drastic production cuts have been instituted already.

Doubt Curb on Radios.

These and other consumer items which use materials needed for production of war goods face increased restrictions if not complete stoppage of production under the developing wartime economy.

Altho the possible rationing of new radios has been mentioned officials are said to feel radios are an essential wartime instrument in informing the public quickly of developments in case the need should arise.

A Policeman's Lament: Star Lost from Uniform

Lieut. Thomas O'Hare of the Warren avenue police complained to Desk Sergt. George Parker last night that his star had vanished from his uniform.

LA GUARDIA FACES GROWING STORM AS AID RESIGNS

New York, Dec. 28 [Special].—Mayor Fiorella La Guardia today found himself the target of strong criticism in the wake of his acceptance of the resignation of Markets Commissioner William Fellowes Morgan Jr., one of the city's most highly respected officials.

Morgan resigned, he said, because La Guardia was too busy to talk with his own officials and because the mayor had attempted to dictate the dismissal of Mrs. Preston Davie, founder of the National Republican Builders club and vice president of the American Women's Voluntary Services. Mrs. Davie had recently joined Morgan's staff as an unpaid assistant in charge of an education program for better and more efficient marketing in the war emergency. Morgan said today that La Guardia had been emphatic in protesting the appointment of Mrs. Davie.

Mrs. Davie today declared it was unfortunate that the mayor, who also is director of the Office of Civilian Defense, was unable to spare the time to discuss important matters with his department heads.

MANY VISIT FIELD MUSEUM AFTER TRIBUNE STORY

An increase in attendance which usually drops during the Christmas season at Field museum was noted yesterday as hundreds of visitors passed thru the turnstiles.

Yesterday's attendance was clocked at 4,237 as against 2,141 for last Sunday. The twofold increase was attributed by museum officials to interest aroused by an article on the institution in yesterday's SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

Many visitors carried THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE, and searched for exhibits mentioned in it.

TAILOR-MADE BONDS.

In about two weeks the ways and means committee of the house of representatives will start work on plans to raise money to finance the war. Tax rates which have been boosted yearly, and are now the highest of all time, are going to be advanced further. But the war cannot be financed on taxes alone. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau last year told congress that two-thirds of the expenditures of the government during rearmament should be covered by taxes, but that was when the maximum rate of outgo was thought to be 20 billion dollars. Now that expenditures at the annual rate of 50 billions are in contemplation, the secretary would no doubt be glad to settle for tax collections equal to a half or even a third of what he had to pay out. Chairman Walter F. George said last week that he thought that the United States government would be lucky if current revenues paid for as much as a third of the cost of the war.

The larger part of the cost of the war will have to be borrowed. The sale of government securities to the people has increased all over the country since the war started, but nothing like the volume of money needed is coming in. A number in Washington are known to be in favor of compelling people to buy bonds. The plan proposed is to make regular deductions from pay at the source. Such bonds would bear a low rate of interest and be salable only after the end of the war.

This is one certain method of raising large sums of money, but it would inevitably work great hardships. Many have already suffered substantial reduction in income because of the war. Others who are finding it difficult to raise the funds to provide for next year's tax will be in desperate shape if after another increase in the tax rate a portion of their earnings is to be abstracted and invested in nonnegotiable bonds. On the other hand, by making bond buying compulsory, those who might subscribe for more than their proportionate amount will be inclined to confine their purchases to what is required.

Before any force is applied to sell government bonds voluntary purchase plans should be tried thoroly. Bonds should be brought out to meet every investment need. There is every reason to believe that a 50 year 3 per cent issue would have an exceedingly wide appeal. Those who want a 25 year issue should be provided for at a lower rate of interest. There should be shorter maturities at still lower rates. Tax exempt issues at low rates would appeal to some. Others might be attracted if the income from the bonds was exempt from tax, for say five years.

Before we issue a particular kind of government security and force everybody to buy it, why not offer an assortment of bonds, with one to appeal to every taste. Instead of taking people's money and giving them bonds without giving them a say in the matter, why not make bonds so attractive as to be irresistible?

STORIES FROM HAWAII.

Readers of some of the newspaper stories from Hawaii—not, we may add, in THE TRIBUNE—may have found themselves grasping for a comprehension of what they were reading. They were told, for one thing, that the destruction, in the opinion of persons familiar with bombing raids in Europe, was greater than ever had been suffered by any previously bombed area. They were told that the Japanese were over their targets about four hours, which would indicate that they were in effective control of the sky for that period.

This is one side of the picture presented. On the other side, these dumfounded readers learned that Japanese pilots were timid, that they evaded combat, that they were poor shots, that they couldn't hit an objective with their bombs and they weren't good with their machine gunning. It was reported by these correspondents that the Japanese planes were antiquated and the ones shot down when examined were found to be museum pieces of antiquity. Any one who can make consistency out of such reporting has a gift far above the ordinary.

It certainly doesn't do us any good to continue to underestimate the enemy. Well informed men have been warning the people against this for some time and yet, unfortunately, human nature plays against such sound advice and wise opinion and people believe what they want to believe, which is that the enemy is a pushover.

The treacherous attack upon Hawaii accomplished what the Japanese intended it should do. It immobilized the American fleet, at least for the time being, and permitted the operations on the other side of the Pacific to be carried on without exposure to whatever the intact American armed forces based on Hawaii might have threatened.

We have to repair what was destroyed and win back what was lost, and we are not benefited by continuing to cheapen a crafty and hard striking foe.

WE'RE BARBARIANS.

The Tokio radio has launched an atrocity propaganda campaign against the United States. It accuses American forces in the Philippines of machine gunning and kidnaping Japanese nationals on the Island of Mindanao and of imprisoning 17,000 of them without food or water. Charges of this nature from the enlightened subjects of the Son of Heaven are easily put in their proper perspective.

Japan had a huge fifth column planted at Davao. As soon as war broke out, several thousand Japanese settlers took up arms and began shooting the Filipinos who had extended them hospitality. If some of them got shot in return and others were put where they could do less harm, it is hardly surprising. But even the Japs know they are lying when they say that American forces abused prisoners, even tho they had put themselves beyond protection of the laws of war.

Atrocity stories are to be expected in wartime, but the Japanese have convicted themselves time and again of acts outside the laws of humanity. The most horrible atrocities of modern times were committed against the helpless civil population of Nanking when the former Chinese capital fell to Japanese invaders. The last American radio message out of Guam before that island was taken by Japanese forces told of Jap landing parties shooting up the hospital and machine gunning natives in the streets. American combat pilots downed in action have had Japanese machine guns turned on them after they bailed out, and the crews of torpedoed American freighters have told of being shelled by Jap submarines after they took to the lifeboats.

And now, in a series of savage air raids carried out against undefended Manila after it had been declared an open city, the Japanese have spread death among the civilian population and brought ruin to historic churches and an ancient university. Under every convention of international law Manila was protected from attack, but these considerations mean nothing to the Japs.

Many well intentioned Americans are fearful that we may come to hate the enemy too much. The enemy has no such scruples. This nation had better not get into the habit of apologizing to itself every time a Jap stops some lead. Wars aren't won that way.

LAKE MICHIGAN CAN HELP.

The City club has suggested that as a war measure the federal government authorize an increase in the flow of the Chicago river from 1,500 to 10,000 cubic feet a second. The suggestion is contained in telegrams and letters sent to President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Stimson by the president of the club, Mr. Herman Ellsworth. He shows that, without a moment's delay and without the expenditure of a penny, the federal government can increase materially the quantity of electricity available in this most important industrial area.

The generators are installed at Lockport but because of the limited flow are not used to anything like their capacity. Mr. H. P. Ramey, assistant chief engineer of the sanitary district, has estimated that the present output of 8,200 kilowatts could be increased to 23,000 if the government would authorize a diversion sufficient to turn all the dynamos at the plant. The added power could be used either to supply new armament industries, such as the plant at Wilmington, or to reduce the movement of coal to Chicago. Mr. Ellsworth estimates that to produce as much additional power as can be obtained from a 10,000 foot diversion, no less than 10,000 carloads of coal a year would be required.

Mayor Kelly has called attention to the need for a larger diversion of water to prevent contamination of the south side's water supply. Another point which should be raised is the increased serviceability of the Illinois and Mississippi waterways which would result. The Mississippi channel below Grafton, where the Illinois enters the river, is frequently too shallow for economical transportation. A larger diversion at Chicago would provide the remedy. At a time when there is a threatened shortage of freight cars, any measure which is calculated to provide a substitute method of transportation for bulk freight is to be welcomed as a boon.

The government in recent years has spent hundreds of millions of dollars on uneconomical hyro-electric projects located far from the centers where electricity is consumed. Vast sums have been squandered, also, on river improvements where little commerce ever will develop. By way of contrast, here in the heart of a great industrial and transportation center is an opportunity to produce substantial benefits without a nickel of outlay. The secretary of war can bring about this expansion of the nation's industrial power with a stroke of his pen. No risk is involved. If, after authorizing the increased diversion, he decides he made a mistake, another stroke of his pen will restore the situation as it exists today.

NOT CAUGHT NAPPING.

A policeman dancing at a public ballroom while off duty saw a gunman seize $300 in box office receipts. He abandoned his partner, drew his gun, and, when the bandit refused to halt, shot him twice. By a wise provision of the Chicago police department officers are on duty 24 hours a day. They are held strictly accountable if they are surprised outside of their hours on beat or at the station. There are no Pearl Harbors in the police department.

IRELAND ON THE FENCE.

Prime Minister Eamon de Valera of Ireland stated in a Christmas broadcast that Ireland will remain neutral "unless attacked." He expressed sympathy for the United States in the perils and hardships it faces, but added that Ireland could not abandon neutrality without endangering the unity it has achieved.

In the interest of Irish independence, de Valera and his countrymen should immediately open the ports of Ireland to the United States. No country has done so much to champion Irish rights as this country, and altho the grant of bases would in some measure compensate for this support, that action need have no other recommendation than Irish self-interest. If any American of Irish ancestry objects to the proposal he is not a very good American and he is helping Ireland to betray its own independence.

Editorial of the Day

FOOD OUR STRONG SUIT.

[Springfield (Mass.) Republican.]

The housewives who fear a food shortage worry needlessly.

Our surplus wheat supply is so large that the United States would have enough all next year if not a single acre of wheat were grown the coming season. Total wheat supplies at this year-end are about 1,330,000,000 bushels and we consume annually about 700,000,000 bushels. Prior to the war of 1914-1918 the United States exported wheat in large quantities. Now we export none, except under lend-lease conditions.

Canned vegetables are abundant. The sugar situation is excellent. Says the Wall Street Journal: "Sugar delivered in the United States this year will total about 7.8 million tons. Actual consumption is estimated at 7.2 million. That will leave 600,000 tons [industrial users have big reserves] to be carried into 1942. Next year's supplies, excluding the Philippines, should be about 7.1 million tons, with the 600,000 carryover bringing the total to 7.7 million. Even if Hawaiian shipments were cut in half—slashed by 500,000 tons—the total would still be 7.2 million tons."

Heavy food shipments are going to Britain, but these leave a sufficiency at home of dairy products, pork, and lard, and eggs. American farmers are raising more hogs than ever before, and even the hens of America are rising to the emergency. Cold storage stocks of eggs in October were 12 per cent above a year ago, and 18 per cent above the 1936-'40 average.

If the United States should send an army abroad several millions strong, the soldiers would have to be fed. But, for the present, no American food is being shipped to the European continent, as food was shipped to France and Italy in 1917-1918, not only for our armies but for the native populations.

ECHOES FROM THE ISLANDS.

A curious little historical coincidence: The Philippine Islands were named after a monarch who set an example for Hitler by trying to obliterate England—Philip II. of the Spanish Armada.

* * *

The name of the old-fashioned parlor game, "philopena," has no association with the Philippines. It is a corruption of the German "vielliebchen," which the French turned into "philippine." If you are not acquainted with this quaint little pastime, see the big dictionary. . . . It is commonly played between two people who have shared the twin kernels of a nut, but it appears to be out of fashion in this dreary modern world.

* * *

The discoverer of the Philippines was Magellan, the first circumnavigator of the world. This title is conceded him altho he failed to make the complete circuit in person. He named the archipelago after St. Lazarus.

* * *

American soldiers came back from the Philippines, in the early years of this century, singing a rowdy marching song which did not flatter the natives. It ran to the tune of "Marching Thru Georgia" and contained lines which irked the reformers and idealists, such as:

And beneath the Starry Flag
Civilize them with a Krag,
Then return us to our own beloved homes.

Press and pulpit were vehement in protests against this barrack-room ballad of unknown authorship. "Krag," was short for the Krag-Jorgensen rifle, then used in the American army.

On the Civilian Front.

Hate and intolerance are the order of the day. After intimate talks with escaped Norwegians and Czechs and Poles, I can see this and resign myself to the need for generating ferocity and hate in the mass of our people if we are to wage successfully an all-out war. I must remind myself that the thunderous Aryanism of Wagner speaks for the German more truly than the music of Schubert and Mozart. That the brutal philosophies of Schopenhauer, Nietzsche, and Hegel have become their creed—not the poetry of Goethe and Schiller. That the sentimentalist can be also a sadist.

My father was a pure-bred Bavarian. His grandfather was burgermeister of Kulmbach, where they make the best beer in the world. Yet I remember my contemptuous amazement when, after two years in the Other War, I came home from France to find that father had been chairman of a committee which went about poking out the stained glass windows of the Hofbrau House, and which forced Judge Mihlgan to remove a frieze from the front of his home because it bore a quotation from Goethe in German script.

ESSENCE OF TIME.

What is an aeon but a cosmic day?
And what are seconds to a star?
The spinning suns, the galaxies that mar
The seas of night with lighted spray,
These reckon not of Time, nor lay
Their glorious courses by that calendar
Which measures man, and like a czar
Of total right, governs his waking day.
No, Nature's hours are infinite;
Man's restless mind alone invented Time
To be eternally enslaved by it.
I will not enter in this webbed design!
Yet, stay! I pause and think how carefully
I count each precious second spent with thee!

FAT AND FEARSOME.

MOST of our story books picture the fat man as possessed of a jolly, rollicking disposition. To some extent this is true. But every now and then we will encounter one who is about as unhappy as can be.

Most of these victims of obesity long for relief. Our lady friends insist upon it. They envy the sylphlike configurations of their more favored sisters. Many hope to obtain a gland preparation which will melt away the excess easily and comfortably. Unfortunately such a proposal will prove disappointing as a rule.

Even tho thyroid extract is administered under the strict supervision of a competent physician, results may not come promptly. When they do, the pounds may be regained about as quickly as they are lost. The answer lies in obliging the patient to burn up his surplus thru exercise and the strict adherence to a low calorie diet.

That some of these individuals are extremely miserable goes without saying. In fact, personality disturbances spoil what would otherwise be a pleasurable existence. In one series of these puzzling cases the patients in question exhibited no little surprise that it appeared to be difficult to establish a sound reducing regimen. Whenever they were deprived of all the nourishment desired they suffered a mild depression, including numerous anxieties and fears. With a few, the inability to get about [trouble with the feet because of weight] obliged them to become "sitters" instead of "doers." This situation amounted to semi-invalidism.

One of these victims, aged 42, related that on every attempt to perform the simplest household tasks she would manifest smothering sensations and dizziness. In consequence, she was forced to seek the nearest couch. Going into her history it developed that as a girl she was timid and shy. Eating became her chief joy in life—her principal diversion. Because she was obviously in a blue funk, psychotherapy was employed and, with it, a practical dieting plan which supplied less than 1,000 calories daily.

At first, she tried to bribe members of her family to bring her snacks. Every one played fair, however, and appetite remained unsatisfied. Generous amounts of vegetables were offered and, in desperation, she would still her hunger with bulky nonfattening materials.

Within six months she had lost nearly 40 pounds, was taking long walks, and had recovered entirely from her dread of collapse. She was busy about the home and reported that she was perfectly comfortable with the spare menus. With the slightest break in her schedule, however, she would start on an upward trend. This necessitated the continuance of strict control.

Examples of this kind could be detailed over and over again. Suffice it to say that in 11 instances [all women] wherein the primary fault was corpulence, secondary emotional symptoms arose because the nourishment factors were out of balance. Whenever avoirdupois greatly exceeds the standards established for age and height, it may be well to inaugurate a slimming program to dispel psychic instability.

WELL CROWNED.

Mrs. R. C. writes: My 5 year old son has two crowns on the back of his head. Can you explain this?

Whirls or cowlicks are scalp phenomena. Double crowns are not uncommon. According to an old adage, two or more indicate great wisdom. Perhaps this is true in your son's case.

Camp Forrest, Tenn., Dec. 25.—As a member of the 131st infantry I wish that your paper would print a message of thanks to the people of Chicago and Illinois who have been so kind as to send us gifts this Christmas. It has made the fellows realize that some one other than his friends is depending on him to help win this war. We are deeply grateful for these gifts. CORP. JOHN H. RIVES,

Camp Forrest, Tenn., Dec. 25.—I have been appointed a committee of one to thank your newspaper, on behalf of Company D, 108th quartermaster regiment, for the great part you are playing in making this holiday season a most enjoyable one for all of us here in Camp Forrest. For many of us this will be our first Christmas away from our homes. AN APPRECIATION.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—Permit me to express appreciation for the publication in THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE'S color roto section of Lucas van Leyden's "Adoration of the Magi." Altho most of the early master painters showed one of the wise men as Negro, English painters have carefully avoided such a portrayal and most reproductions in America have followed the English pattern.

ANOTHER VIEW ON PAROLE.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Your editorial concerning the so-called parole reform law seems to disprove your former contention that prisoners in Illinois under the old law were paroled too soon. You held that the judges, who hear the evidence, could best determine the merits of the case at the time of trial, and that they would recommend longer sentences than the parole board. Nevertheless the report from which you quote shows that the administration of the new law to date indicates exactly the opposite effect. In only 22 out of 337 cases have the judges recommended stiffer penalties. Furthermore, in the recommending of minimum and maximum sentences by the courts, it is shown that the average sentence under this provision will be one year and five months less than under the findings of the parole authorities.

I have no notion that parole boards are infallible in their judgments or that they can be entirely free from political influence so long as they are appointed on a partisan basis. But I am no more convinced that judges are always impersonal in their decisions, devoid of bias, or clear of political commitments. It ought to be obvious, however, and cannot be too often repeated, that prison terms should be determined not upon the basis of the offense committed, but upon the character of the offender. It should be evident that that character cannot be wholly known by the court at the time of trial, especially as no investigation is made of the defendant's background and motivation.

If our process of imprisonment for crime is to mean anything, its value can be determined only by a thoro examination of the inmate's personality, as in the diagnostic depot; his reaction to treatment; his progress in industry, and his response to the normal concepts of society. In the administration of the amended law some judges seem to have spurned the protective value of supervision after release by recommending such absurd sentences as a one year minimum and one year and a day maximum or one year to 18 months.

Fortunately, the present parole board is composed of men of experience in the field of criminology. Fortunately, also, the new law gives them the authority to overrule ill-advised recommendations of the courts. Therefore, only time and the final decisions of the paroling authorities will tell whether this new legislation will prove to be wise or unwise.

OBJECTS TO WAR POSTER.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—The "first official United States war poster" represents five ape-like figures in German uniform, with grotesque and bestial faces and wide open mouths, singing the Horst Wessel song and the subtitle, "O, Yeah!" Is this the plan on which we are to ask our sons to wage the struggle for the defense of Christian civilization and the principles of human dignity about which we have all been so eloquent in recent years? Nothing in Hitler's ministry of propaganda of hate or the communist posters, in the anti-God museum in Moscow, is worse than this. Orders should be immediately sent out countermanding and withdrawing the circulation of this poster.

WAR IS FOR THE YOUNG.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 22.—The report from Washington which appears on the front page of this morning's Tribune, stating that "draft calls will be by number rather than by age," certainly is not based on sound judgment. THE TRIBUNE has done a lot of good work since we entered the war and long before we entered. It can do still more by fighting for sane methods in selecting soldiers.

Surely a man of 20 in perfect condition is better timber for the solid construction of our army than a man of 44. Are there any men 40 or over in the physical contact sports such as football or boxing? Why shouldn't the army demand youth the same as sports?

Lake Is Contaminated by South Side Mills.

Figures showing that contamination of Chicago's water supply already has approached the danger point were released by Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt yesterday as federal officials weighed an appeal by Mayor Kelly for a temporary diversion of lake water into the Illinois waterway.

Since April, polluted water pouring into the lake from the vast industrial Calumet area, has increased the number of contaminating bacteria 38,300 per cent—from 3.7 coliform bacteria per cubic centimeter in June to 1,424.2 coliform bacteria in September.

No present figures are available, Hewitt said, but he estimated that the number of coliform bacteria was "far above" the September analysis.

Health officials, he said, point out that more than 100 coliform bacteria in a cubic centimeter of water is a menace to public health.

Appeal to Stimson.

In his appeal to Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Mayor Kelly asked that water from the Calumet river be diverted thru the Calumet river and the Sag channel to carry away the contaminated water before it flows near the 68th street and Edward F. Dunne cribs.

"More than 1,400,000 persons receive their water supply from the south district," Hewitt said. "Unless the diversion is granted we hate to think of what might happen."

The following chart shows the average number of coliform bacteria in a cubic centimeter of water near the southern cribs in the first nine months of this year:

January	57.2	June	846.8
February	11.3	July	646.8
March	15.9	August	771.0
April	3.7	September	1,424.2
May	152.6

Hazard to Health.

"As the Calumet area increased production in the national defense effort, just that much more contaminated water flowed into the lake," Hewitt said. "It has reached the point now where only diversion can relieve the situation and prevent a serious health hazard."

Another chart showed the highest monthly average and the annual average number of coliform bacteria during the last 15 years:

Year—	Highest monthly average.	Yearly average.
1927	115.0	25.07

Samples Too Contaminated.

During the last few months many individual samples of water showing in excess of 300,000 coliform per cubic centimeter have been taken from the lake, Hewitt said, but were discarded because they were too contaminated to be a true sample.

If these figures were included in the averages, the highest monthly average this year would be raised from 1,424.2 to 5,585.5, and this year's nine month average from 443.2 to 1,010.4, he declared.

Hewitt said 60 per cent of the contaminated water flowed into the lake from the Indiana Harbor ship canal, 20 per cent from the sewers in Lake county, Indiana, and 20 per cent from the Calumet river.

GOV. TALMADGE IS CONDEMNED BY PROFESSORS

Georgian Hit for Ousting University Dean.

In measured, scholarly words, the American Association of University professors yesterday rebuked Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia for his "political interference" in the state university. The protest was made at the closing session of the association's 28th annual convention meeting at the Stevens hotel.

Gov. Talmadge ejected Dean Walter D. Cocking from the university last fall because, he charged, the Dean favored a graduate school for both Negroes and whites. At the time the governor said, "There'll be no Negroes in the same schools with white folks in Georgia and there'll be no men in our system who advocate it."

Join in Formal Protest.

Professors representing universities from all sections of the nation approved a formal statement protesting the governor's action. "The association," the statement said, "views with unqualified disapproval the recent interference by Gov. Talmadge in the university system of Georgia.

"Arbitrary action and political considerations in educational affairs are not in accord with sound education administration and are inimical to the welfare of education. They are particularly harmful when they involve an attempt to arouse racial prejudices, especially at a time when it is imperative that the races learn how to live together in accord with each other."

The association indorsed action taken Dec. 4 by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary schools which suspended from membership in the southern association several Georgia educational institutions.

How Ph.Ds Fare Revealed.

At the afternoon session of the professors' convention, Dr. Ernest V. Hollis, consultant of the American Council on Education, disclosed his findings in a survey of the occupational fate of Ph.D. degree holders. He spent a year compiling statistics on 22,509 persons with Ph.D. degrees in the period of 1931 to 1940.

Before his survey it was generally thought by educators that at least 75 per cent of Ph.D. people went into the teaching profession. Dr. Hollis found that only 57.6 per cent work in educational institutions. The government employs almost 11 per cent of the Ph.D.s, he declared, adding, "Since the war, I feel that many more hold governmental jobs."

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

These nippy winds remind us again of the winter standbys for the woman with dry skin—bland soaps and good greaseless skin softeners. These are the best preventives we know of for that most inelegant and irritating of all winter ills, bath itch.

Bath itch is a little like hay fever in that it seems a bit ridiculous to all except those who suffer from it. In reality it's a maddening complaint and aside from the immediate discomfort there is the sad fact that the cumulative effect is just about ruinous to the skin. In this part of the country it is especially prevalent.

Several precautions are advisable to correct bath itch. Watch the temperature of your rooms; hot, dry air inside rooms and offices contributes more to skin parching than most of us suspect. If you live in a hard water district, use a softener rather generously. There are any number of inexpensive but efficient ones.

Then, see to it that your soaps, and bath trimmings and skin treatment items are all of the kind that contribute, even infinitesimally, to skin lubrication. Use superfatted soaps in the winter. These being extremely bland are less inclined to cut down on the supply of natural skin oil.

Use bath oils rather than salts at this season if you're a winter itch victim. And above all use after your bath or shower some creamy lotion that helps restore the oil that is sapped by winter winds. These balms needn't be greasy or messy. Some of the best we have lubricate the skin without leaving a coating of oil that soils the clothing or makes the skin feel sticky.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

Remedy Book.

More browsing, this time in a book called "Vitalogy—Adapted for Home and Family Use," published by I. N. Reed in 1896. Titles which stuck in our mind: "Girl's Hair," "Habitual Cold Feet," "Putrid Sore Throat," "Foreign Bodies in the Nose," "How to Become Fat or Plump," "Red-Gum or Tooth Rash." Here's a remedy verbatim, given "for what it is worth," for seasickness [nausea marina]: "A sheet of ordinary notepaper worn over the stomach, next to the skin will prevent seasickness."

Competition.

J. P. tells us this happened down in Chicago's film row the day before Christmas. The employés were having their annual pre-Christmas party. A tall, lean, hungry looking hobo entered. On his head was a red, white, and blue paper hat, and he was blowing a horn. "A Merry Christmas to you all," he called out, and then asked for a few nickels for something to eat. Just then another hobo appeared, gave one look at the first hobo, and shouted: "Hey, you, get out of here! I'm working this side of the street."

Window Dressing.

Mrs. Walter Brewster, Walter Frazier, and Meyric Rogers are to be judges of 29 window displays on Michigan avenue and in the loop arranged by as many members of the American Institute of Decorators for their annual conference. Speaking of Mr. Rogers reminds us of the time on the beach at Santa Barbara when we met a very charming gentleman to whom we proceeded to air some strong minded if unfounded views on certain paintings then in Los Angeles. The gentleman turned out to be Meyric Rogers, curator of Chicago's Art institute, whose views were entirely founded.

One suggested display for three windows may not be carried out on account of its daring. It was to be called, "Parlor, Bedroom, and Bath." The bathtub was to have had its inside painted in seashell or Victorian rose, with the outside covered in actual shells or plaster roses, with a model, wearing the latest negligee, about to step into the tub. Ralph Wheeler is going to use $50,000 worth of jewelry for some table settings in one window. That reminds us of the hostess who, after forgetting to order flowers or other decoration for her Thanksgiving table, collected all the jewelry in the house, good, bad, and junk, and arranged it as attractively as possible as a centerpiece.

Harold Darling plans to arrange a window showing a hundred years of progress in interiors and music boxes, and Ernst Von Ammon [with whom we once happily performed in one of Alice Gerstenberg's plays at the Arts club] is doing a candy window. Mrs. Ralph Small is planning a swimming pool scene for a State street store.

Bad Luck.

Mrs. David Taber, who did not win the automobile at the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society ball at the Drake, has won three at previous benefits.

Sound Effects.

Ennio Bolognini, one of the world's greatest cellists, presented at the Children's Home and Aid Society ball what he said was the world première of a story illustrated with sound effects. The farm boy wakes up in the morning to the sound of birds, chickens, pigs, and finally cows. All this on the cello. Then he goes off to war and wakes up to the bugle call. There is a raid, airplanes fly overhead, a shell whistles on its way, and when Mr. Bolognini bangs his hand on the back of his cello, the shell lands.

Silent Treatment.

We were intrigued by the mother who, finding her children fighting over whether to listen to the real war news on the radio or the play war on a children's program, decreed a 20 minute period of silence.

Post-Yuletide Bargain Rush Is On in Force

BY REA SEEGER.

The mopping up crew has taken over the shops and stores but in spite of their concerted efforts to whisk away what's left of the odds and ends, shopping goes on as usual! There is much bustle about the annual bargains. Shoppers with Christmas money are snapping up choice items they had to forgo when they were buying for others.

Everything from children's togs to hats and furs carry bargain price tags, so here is the annual chance to own some special treasure you saw during the peak of the season. Brand new things are out, too, gay, even brilliantly colored daytime dresses, thin winter wools or the newest crêpes with smooth textures and liquidlike draping qualities, ideal for all the casually cut dresses with simply gathered skirts.

There are bolts and bolts of fascinating new printed silks, together with spectacular rayon prints decorated in huge and rather startling patterns. For instance, the daisy and flowers that measure a good two feet across and the leaves and stem designs reminding you of Jack and his stratospheric beanstalk. White prints blazing with color are destined for the southbound trunks and bags, vivid greens, blues, reds, and very worldly looking black background prints make these eye-filling collections hard to resist.

The first of the pastel colored wool suits are also out to catch the shopper craving something new for contrast duty under fur coats and jackets, or fur trimmed fabric coats. There are stunning plaid and check mixtures in soft browns, subtle grays and even rosy pink and delft blue, and for the bright color enthusiasts there are cherry red and a shade of bittersweet that will be a knockout under winter navy blue or black coats.

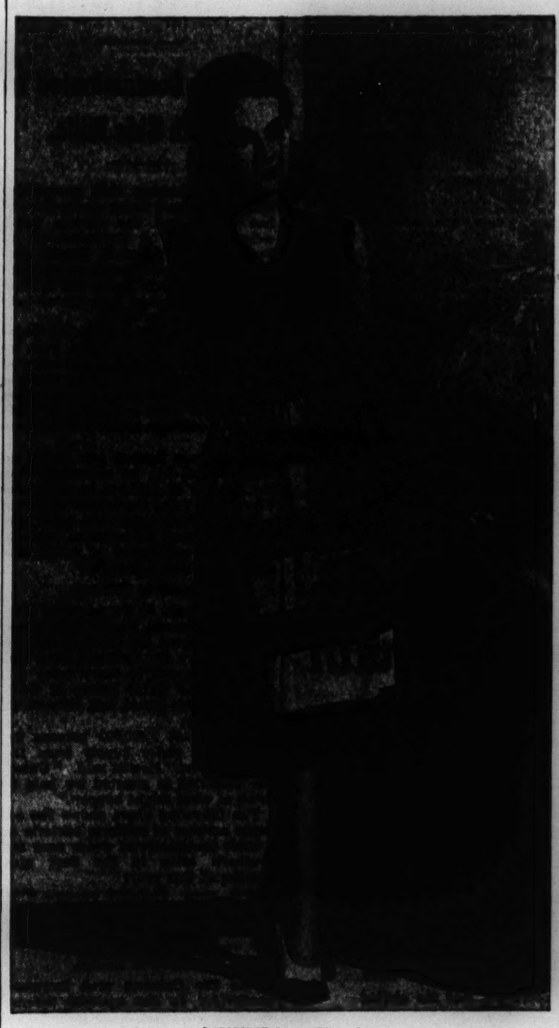
For Southern Journey



[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

One of the newest contrast dresses from the first midseason showings features color in wide bands in the simply gathered skirt and the same sharp distinction in the shirtwaist top cut with neat short sleeves. This particular dress is one from a most interesting collection of bright combines for immediate wear and south bound baggage now on display in a Chicago shop.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY.

The Winner!

Altho it is not news that women select 63 per cent of the ties worn by men—as well as a large proportion of other furnishings—it may be news that a saleswoman, in the men's department of a big retail store, walked away with a substantial prize in the face of pretty heavy competition. [In that particular section men clerks are in the vast majority.] The prize was the culmination of a selling contest of gift certificates for men's hats. Now, the salesmen are doffing their hats to the little lady who suggested so successfully, "How would you like to give him a hat?"

Shopping List.

The most provocative shopping list was picked up in the corridor of an office building Christmas eve. It read:

Card for Freddie.
Card for Jackie.
Card for Tommy.
TELEGRAM TO BILLY.

Spelling Test.

A most satisfying letter arrived in the morning mail. Couldn't this column make a practice of running a spelling test every day? This was the gist of the note—accompanied by welcome praise. The catch was . . . the name of the writer of the column was misspelled.

Christmas Gift.

The latter part of last week a bright faced woman with two interesting youngsters in tow appeared at the Art institute and confided shyly in the woman at the catalog desk that her husband had given her $25 for a Christmas gift to come up to the institute [with her children] from the small town downstate where they lived. The Mecca to which they journeyed was the gallery where Mrs. Thorne's miniature rooms are on display.

Beginners' Mistakes.

"What type of mistake does the beginner in business ordinarily make?" was asked of an experienced business woman whose work includes the "breaking in" of several new employés each year.

There was no hesitation in her answer. "One and all they do the same thing. Whether they come from high school or from college—they all stumble over the same block. They make the blunder of appropriating the privileges which are enjoyed by old-time employés. Just for an example: They see a well established employé take time . . . on a slack morning . . . to have her hair done. Straightway, They take time to have their hair done. Or, they see a competent employé [of whose application and ability the firm has no doubt whatsoever] stretch her lunch hour. Straighway, they stretch their lunch hours. It usually takes a couple of months before they realize that privileges are like salary raises and promotions—one has to work UP to them."

Which ought to prove something or other. . . . Namely, that the hardest thing for a beginner is to begin at the beginning.

Ready to Resolve?

Three days left to dust off those New Year's resolutions!

Triangle Club Brings Revue to City Tonight

BY JUDITH CASS.

As many age groups as researchers poll will be in the audience at the Eighth Street theater tonight to see the Princeton Triangle club satirize quiz programs and polls in its current show, "Ask Me Another." Arrival of the Princeton group always is the signal for a rush of parties—debutante fêtes so that the extra men may form a truly exciting stag line; reunions so that Princeton alumni may talk over old times, and sub-deb parties so that the young people may get a foretaste of what their college fun will be.

This year, for the first time, the Princeton show is a revue and is advertised to be 75 per cent musical. It was written by two Chicagoans, Gordon Bent and Frank O. Birney Jr. Sadly enough, young Mr. Birney was killed in an automobile accident in Princeton on Dec. 17. Mr. Bent's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bent of Lake Forest. Richard W. KixMiller of Wilmette is a member of the cast.

Several Dinner Parties Planned Before Show.

Theodore S. Chapman III. is chairman of the Chicago committee for the show and he has been assisted by Laurence A. Carton and Charles C. Fitzmorris Jr.

Among those who will give dinner parties before the show are the Phelps B. Hoyts and Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, who will entertain at the Casino for sub-debs Joyce Cummings and Betty Swift, and the Austin H. Niblacks, who will give a dinner party for their daughter, Helen, in the Pump room of the Ambassador hotel. Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy Jr. will divide her time between two dinners at the Racquet club — one which the Cudahys and the Champ Carrys are giving for Anthony Cudahy and Marion Carry and another which the Cudahys are giving for their daughter, Miss Sheila. Another pre-Triangle party at the Casino is one which Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Welles will give for Miss Barbara Bronson.

The Trianglers arrived in Chicago from Cleveland yesterday and were entertained by the William J. Hagenahs of Glencoe from 4 to 7 o'clock. William Jr. is a senior at Princeton and he and his sister, Miss Florence, received with their parents.

Today the Princeton men will be guests at a luncheon at the Palmer House, given by the Chicago Princeton club. Representatives of each of the four college classes will speak, and Cyrus H. Adams III., president of the Chicago Princeton club, will respond for the alumni.

Tea-Dance to Be Held for Miss Casselberry.

From the luncheon the Trianglers probably will go on to the tea-dance which Robert J. Dunham will give at the Casino for his granddaughter, Miss Caryl Casselberry, daughter of Mrs. Edgerton Throckmorton. Miss Casselberry will be assisted by debutantes Harriet Dawes, Frances Clow, Lana Jelke, Eleanor Cochran, Diana Hill, Mary Cornelia Aldis, Dudley Winston, and Carol Gardner. Miss Casselberry made her formal bow at

It's a safe bet that every one of the above likes to be among the thousands who pack the Stadium every time the Chicago Blackhawks play at home, for true hockey fans never willingly miss a match. Mrs. Rockwell and her sister, Miss Hill, a debutante, cheer the Hawks almost every Sunday and Thursday, but the six others are all subdebs and sometimes have to miss a match because of school. Harriet is a daughter of the R. Douglas Stuarts, Betty is the T. Philip Swifts' daughter, Ann's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Cornelisen, Cynthia is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Books Would Ease Tedium of an Invalid

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

If your bookshelves are bulging with new Christmas books, perhaps you'd like to weed out some of the old ones and send them along to an invalid who would be most grateful for them.

Mr. X. was stricken with an incurable and progressive ailment several years ago. For that reason, he and his wife, both highly intelligent people, have been on relief for some time. Their income is meager, and since he requires constant care, his wife is unable to work. Reading is now one of the greatest and almost his only pleasure, and books on any subject would be most welcome.

His wife, who has made a valiant and cheerful struggle against great handicaps, is in need of women's clothing size 18, a coat size 20, and shoes, size 8 or 8½.

A bedspread and some curtains would also help to make their present quarters more comfortable and attractive, if any reader has them to spare.

Mrs. X. has tried to make the floors and woodwork in their apartment more presentable, but paint and varnish are items she is seldom able to afford. If any one has surplus materials on hand, they would be a great assistance to her. The address is on the south side of the city.

The annual firelight tea of the Chicago Wellesley club will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Lake Shore club. Gloria Vanderbilt Wed in Mission to Broccoli King's Son

Santa Barbara, Cal., Dec. 28 (AP).—In an historic Indian mission, Gloria Laura Morgan Vanderbilt, 17 years old, heiress-daughter of one of America's wealthiest families, became the bride today of Pasquale [Pat] Di Cicco, actors' agent and scion of an Italian immigrant truck gardener.

The ceremony took place at noon in the presence of two score friends and relatives, including the bride's mother, Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt.

The bride wore a white satin dress of the 1880 period with a 24 foot veil. Her wedding ring was of plain gold. Shirley Cowan was maid of honor and Screen Actor Bruce Cabot best man. Actor Errol Flynn was one of the ushers. Witnessing the marriage were two sisters of the bride's mother, Lady Furness and Mrs. Benjamin Thaw of New York, and Di Cicco's mother, Mrs. Pasquale Di Cicco.

The bride is the daughter of the late Reginald C. Vanderbilt, horseman and son of Cornelius Vanderbilt, banker and railroad magnate. She will inherit about $4,000,000 on Feb. 20, 1945. Di Cicco, 32, was divorced from Actress Thelma Todd in 1934. His father, now dead, was known as Long Island's broccoli king.

Ballet Dances a Fiery 'Three Cornered Hat'

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo gave a stunning performance of the Massine — De Falla — Picasso "Three Cornered Hat" yesterday as the feature of the second matinée of its seven day stand at the Civic Opera house.

The dancers caught the work's very essence and put it zestfully before their audience. Violence of execution did justice to violence of conception. The performers pressed hard against the choreographer's motion patterns —which were bold enough to start with—and often seemed to be about to break out of their frame altogether.

"Three Cornered Hat" stood forth not as a simple minded little tale of an armorous governor, a jealous miller, and a mischievous wife but as an enormously successful effort to catch and project the particular type of earthiness and bursting joyfulness which we thoughtlessly call Spanish.

Thoughtlessly, because such things are universals, and as comprehensible in Cook county as in Andalusia. Yesterday's audience, like countless other audiences of the last 22 years, recognized the ballet's content, felt its terrific impact, and clapped and cheered like mad.

Nathalie Krassovska, one of the greatest dancers of her type before the public, did the miller's wife for the first time in Chicago [as far as this reviewer's memory goes]. Her tingling aliveness made her ideal in the rôle.

The miller was Leonide Massine and, as usual, his solo dance stopped the show. The rôle of the governor was enacted with just the right degree of gentle and understanding caricature by James Starbuck.

Speaking of Starbuck, who is either a newcomer or is only now getting important parts, one cannot praise too highly that policy of the ballet which insists on acquiring or developing new talent as well as preserving the old. This engagement has already made us conscious of several interesting dancers whose names are relatively or wholly unfamiliar. To mention only one or two, there was the aristocratically beautiful Istomina as Turandot in Friday's "Vienna—1814" and the bubbling little Etheridge "Labryinth" the same night.

Yesterday's matinée opened with an imperfect "Les Sylphides" [and this one piece too fragile to admit of the slightest technical liberty] and closed with a "Beau Danube" so bright and gay as to set the most sluggish pulse a-pounding. Franz Allers conducted the entire bill.

In the evening the company repeated "Serenade" and "Labryinth" and offered the season's first "Spectre de la Rose" and "Prince Igor."

"Justice Deferred"

By William MacLeod Raine

INSTALMENT XLIII.

ARMED.

Mary did not tell Jack what she thought, that there was in him a virile integrity, an indomitable courage she had not met in any other man. Nor did she mean him to discover what a keen emotion she plucked from merely being in his presence.

Soon he would go away and leave her with only memories. It was important that one of the memories should not be the shame of having flung herself at him and been rejected.

It was a beautiful night, the young moon riding in a sky of scattered clouds. They found a seat beneath an ivy covered trellis.

"I suppose circumstances mold a man," he said reflectively. "When I was a small boy I saw my father murdered. My mother was always frail from that time, and I had to stand between her and the knocks of the world. To get anywhere I had to be a fighter, or at least I thought so. I could not afford to be soft." He looked at the girl, ruefully. "And you see where it has brought me. You can't think of young Clinton working himself into a position from which there was no way out but a killing."

"Abner has plenty of courage. He would fight if necessary.

"I'm sure of that," he agreed. "What I meant was that he lives in a more civilized world than I do. My way of life gets me into jams, and I have to fight my way out."

"Do you mean that you are like Warren Tracy was, a bully always looking for trouble?"

The question surprised him. He had not meant that at all. What he had done he justified to himself completely, but he could see how she might hold a different view. "I'm not in the least like him," he said curtly.

"Of course not," she answered quickly. "You speak of circumstances molding a man. They also determine his way of life, shape the issues he must meet. Because you are your father's son you had to come back to Santa Rita to try to bring to justice the men who killed him. That was your right, and you thought it your duty. In following it you have been forced to defend yourself and have not once been the aggressor. When your enemies have tried to kill you, they were the ones who went outside the law, and not you. It is foolish to build barriers in your mind between you and other people where they don't exist."

"I don't build the barriers," he replied defensively. "They are there. For instance, take you and me. I am a hard, tough hombre, with blood on my hands. You are a well brought up, rather spoiled young lady, and have always been shielded from the rough, uncouth sides of life. Have we anything in common?"

Mary's bright and steely eyes met his, in them suppressed anger. "How could there be, when I am a soft and pampered parasite and you a splendid product of the brave outdoors?" she asked.

"No." He shook his head decisively. "I won't have you twist what I say. It does not matter what I think of you, but I am going to tell you this once that I see in you all the fine, brave qualities the best of women have had since the beginning of history. And it isn't true that we have nothing in common. We have much—something both of us sensed before we had spoken four sentences to each other. But it is not enough. It could not bridge all the little differences that would drive us apart."

"So you don't want to be—friends," she said, almost in a murmur.

He put his hands on her shoulders. "I have been nearer to you than to any other woman I ever knew—at moments. But no—I don't want to be your friend." His voice was rough. His hands dropped to his sides.

"After all I am only a play girl, a sort of animated wax doll, and you must be awfully careful not to waste time on me." She tossed this out lightly, to conceal the mounting excitement pouring thru her veins. Later, in the darkness of the night, she would have time to wonder just how much he had meant, and to guess why the bleak eyes of a stranger had looked at her across an impassable gulf at the drug store only two or three days ago.

Now there was room in her only for the warm and happy joy that flooded her. He had said he could not be her friend, but if that meant anything it must be that they had to be all or nothing to each other, that he, too, felt the drag that fused their spirits.

It was a little frightening that the thought of him possessed her so utterly. He was so amazingly alive, more so to her than any other man in the world.

"I see you mean to misunderstand me," he reproached, and the white teeth in the brown face flashed to a wry smile. "As a good American, I believe in democracy. But I believe in common sense, too. Oil and water do not mix. When you are with young Clinton both of you are gay and happy. You laugh like little children over a hundred trifles. It should be that way with you. But you have never had fun with me because we have no common background. We don't belong in the same world socially."

Her sidelong glance at him was a little scornful. "I have misjudged you. The impression I had was that you are reckless, bold, and not tied to conventions. But I must revise my opinion. I have done you an injustice. You are not like that at all. You have all the nice prim inhibitions of an old-fashioned chaperon."

Jack laughed. "I took that one on the chin, all right." He added, his eyes taking in her slim, sheathed beauty: "It's a matter of timing. I can be reckless, and I can go slow."

"How nice that you always know which way is best," she said airily, and wandered over to look at the rose garden.

Presently they moved back into the house.

"You'll not forget that you have an appointment with Mr. Clinton at the bank tomorrow morning," she reminded him as she walked to the front door to say good-by.

"How could I forget?" he answered. "I'm not invited to conferences with bank presidents every day."

Mary watched him striding down the driveway, flatbacked and strong, a man among 10,000.

* *

Fallon watched Waugh dress for the appointment with Ed Clinton. The little lame line rider admired tremendously the cool, poised efficiency of his new employer. What the Texan did was done with economy of motion, with certainty of purpose. He neither dawdled nor hurried.

"You don't think I had better go with you," Jim said. "Just in case."

"In case of what?"

"In case some guy's trigger finger got to itching."

Jack grinned at him. "Why Jim, I'm invited as the guest of a bank president," he replied in a shocked voice.

"You're invited by the Clintons, who hate your guts," Fallon amended bluntly.

"The idea is that we are going to smoke the pipe of peace—maybe."

"Yeah, well be sure you go completely dressed."

"You have a most suspicious mind, my friend."

The cowpuncher limped across to the dresser, opened a drawer, and took from it a revolver and its holster. He handed them to Waugh. "If you do need your gun you'll need it bad."

The Texan shook his head. "This isn't that kind of a conference."

"How do you know it isn't?" Fallon demanded stubbornly. "Trouble always jumps up unexpected. You weren't looking for Tracy when he walked in on you, were you?"

"Tracy was a turbulent fool. Ed Clinton is a leading citizen."

"So is old Abner, but he arranged yore father's death. You take this gun, boy. You don't have to tote it out in the open. If there's no call to use it nobody will be the wiser. Maybe I've got a hunch."

"It's darn foolishness," Jack said, but he adjusted the harness.

After all he was in the enemy's country and had been shot at several times. It did not cost anything to be prudent, altho he did not believe any trap was waiting for him. Any violence against him at this time and place would be bad policy.

HE HAD KISSED . . . but she had told. And Antony had to run for his life in a hail of Nazi bullets. Don't miss this exciting new story of war-harried romance — "Pursuit of a Parcel," by Patricia Wentworth—starting next Monday in The Chicago Tribune.

Your Handwriting

BY SHIRLEY SPENCER.

Thomas J. Courtney, Cook county state's attorney, writes with a firmness which reveals him as a man who does things with emphatic assurance. There isn't any indecision in his writing. When Mr. Courtney has made up his mind, it is made up, and if you aren't careful he will make up yours for you if you are at all doubtful! That stubborn stroke on the "y" shows that he is deliberate and thoro.

Other indications of positiveness are to be found in his long, heavy t-bar placed low on the stem of the "t," the very heavy periods in his signature, and the definite way he makes each letter.

There is nothing uncertain in any of the strokes. When Mr. Courtney lays down the law, it has been laid down!

Yuletide Week as a Hollywood Diarist Sees It

BY JOHN CHAPMAN.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 28.—Sunday—Homework and adding up what I've heard. It's likely that Ronald Colman will have the lead in a Columbia picture, "Salute to Tobruk," whose plot is based on a real British Broadcasting company broadcast to the besieged defenders of Tobruk. . . . Dorothy McGuire will fly out here between Saturday and Monday performances of "Claudia" on Broadway to test for David Selznick's screen production of that name. . . . Humphrey Bogart and Brenda Marshall will be teamed in Daniel Fuchs' "The World Is Ours"—otherwise known as "Escape from Crime."

Monday—At Columbia they tell me Frankie Albert, All-American from Stanford, will appear on the lot early in April to star in a football flicker called "The Spirit of Stanford." . . . Frankie will be one of the participants in the East-West game at New Orleans. . . .To RKO, and lunch with Plieber and Dorothy Comingore. Dorothy is about to come out of her long retirement and probably will land a lead in Damon Runyon's "Little Pinks."

Tuesday—To Republic to absorb these odds and ends: "In Tragedy at Midnight" the script called for Keye Luke to appear in a laundry named the Chiang Kai-shek laundry. The Hays office promptly blue penciled this label as offensive to the Chinese. In Judy Canova's "Sleepytime Gal," Fritz Feld was to play a comedy character named Gonzales. This monicker was ruled out as possibly offensive to Latin America, so Feld is now Barzumium, an Armenian. . . . William Saroyan please note. . . . Add patriotic ancestry: Miss Canova is a direct descendant of Commodore Perry. Her mother's name is Henriette Perry. . . . The 6 p. m. curfew, adopted by many big stores, doesn't hold with the Beverly Hills shops, and a chance to make after dinner purchases is welcome.

Wednesday—There are a number of studio parties, but this department is too busy at the old mill to attend any of the daytime affairs. I do pick up a typical Hollywood yule story, about the producer whose agent gave him a lifetime subscription to a magazine. The agent told him it was coming and said not to pay any attention to whose name it was in; it really was for the producer. The certificate of subscription, very fancy, arrived. It was in the name of the producer's 5 year old son, who can't read much. The agent wasn't going to be stung on his purchase by having his comparatively aged client drop dead on him in 20 or 30 years. . . . In the evening to help a few folk decorate their trees —the David Hempsteads, the Richard Macaulays and the Dean Jaggers.

Thursday—Everybody thought that if the Japs were going to make a token raid they'd do it last night, on Christmas eve, but they didn't, and the business of today puts the war in the background. Our own household has been blessed with many cards and gifts. The day is cold, almost cold enough to be a real Christmas—a white Christmas like the one Bing Crosby sings about on his air show, thanks to Irving Berlin. . . . Dinner at home on a fine turkey sent by Harold Lloyd from his ranch, with Florabel Muir, Dennis Morrison, Ed Stansbury, and Dick Pollard. Then to the Herbert Drakes' for a bit, and afterward to the Gregory La Cava's at Malibu—and another turkey dinner.

Friday—I meant to note in yesterday's paragraph that Eyre Powell dropped by and was alone. Perhaps, for the first Christmas in his married life. His wife, Doris, volunteered for the big airplane spotting center in Los Angeles and had been called out for a stretch of duty. She's been doing this job for some time, frequently answering calls in the middle of the night—and the work is so secret she won't tell even her husband about it. . . . California's women are finding plenty to do in the defense effort, and are doing it nobly. . . . Well, today is the day after, and it takes all day at the desk to catch up.

Saturday—To studio city for a preview of Republic's "Lady for a Day," in which Joan Blondell plays a high-spirited gambling boat gal in old-time Memphis. The picture is kinda slow, but I like Joan in it, and Edith Barrett, making her second picture, again scores.

Illness Often Is a Cause of Nervousness

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Illness is not necessarily followed by nervousness, but it is intelligent, when a child has been ill, to consider it as an explanation if he exhibits nervousness after he is seemingly entirely recovered. And remember that nervousness may show itself not necessarily in "jerks and spasms," but in many other ways.

I often wish that doctors who attend children would prepare mothers for the aftermath of certain sicknesses and operations. It would mean a lot to them in understanding; but more important than that, it would save the young convalescents from impatience or discipline that they ill deserve.

In this connection, we know as layman that in some cases the illness itself affects the nerves rather directly; in others, it may be the methods of cure that affect the nerves, or the morale of a child. Take the matter of a rigorous diet, which may be the only measure for relief. Such a diet may leave out certain food elements which temporarily deprive the body and result in nervous behavior, or the constant denial of certain foods may have a psychological effect which shows in what we label "nervousness."

We frequently have, too, after illnesses an easy fatigue, but when it shows itself it resembles nervousness. Keep the child who has been ill from using the energy he doesn't have, and the symptoms of nervousness will disappear. Parents must learn to recognize the disguises which fatigue assumes.

Then we have the after effects of the shock of operations. Temperaments differ in their response to anesthetics and surgery, but there is no doubt that there is shock, and in some cases prolonged nervous reaction, which may show itself in behavior not usual with that particular child.

As blanket suggestions for the nervous young convalescent:

Observe your child closely.

Be most patient and tactful.

Make allowances. Overlook everything you can.

Be sure you work in extra day and night rest for your child.

Be sure his food is adequate and appetizing.

Let your doctor decide whether additional vitamins are needed in capsule or other forms.

Give time, that quiet healer, a chance to do his work.

How may a child be taught obedience? Should children be permitted freedom of the house? You will find answers to these and other problems in "You and Your Young Child," Mrs. Gladys Bevans' latest booklet, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 15 cents; postpaid, 18 cents.

Crocheted Bib Collar

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

The crocheted, military, bib collar with tiny epaulets adds a fresh touch to any black dress. It is crocheted of white, mercerized cotton and may be slightly stiffened before wearing. The stitch is not difficult to create, and with a few hours of concentrated knitting a good looking collar is available.

For instructions in crocheting the military collar with epaulets, No. 1047, send 10 cents in stamps or coin in the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

a tea at the Throckmorton home in Dundee last summer.

The "sunlight" decorations of gold foil and drums of yellow roses for the Casselberry party will be taken down in the Casino just in time to be replaced by those for Miss Cochran's and Miss Hill's debut supper-dance. Miss Cochran's and Miss Hill's party, to be given after the Triangle show, will be the largest in a day crowded with parties. As at Miss Casselberry's tea-dance, the entire cast of the show is being invited to this debut.

Miss Hill and Miss Cochran will be among the guests at a dinner party which the Junior Henry Faurots and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan S. Reid will give at the Racquet club, and will go on with them to "Ask Me Another." Miss Hill is a daughter of the Cyrus G. Hills, and Miss Cochran's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John L. Cochran.

Among those who have come from away to attend the dance are Mr. and Mrs. Jouett Todd and Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacNeal of Louisville, Ky.; George MacNichol of Toledo, O., and Miss Mary and Richard LeBlond of Cincinnati, O.

Two New Trier Freshmen Will Entertain Friends.

Davis Baldwin and Louis Farrar, both freshmen at New Trier High school, will entertain their young friends at a "dancing brunch" this morning at the home of Louis' parents, the Holden Farrars in Winnetka. Dancing will start at 10:30 o'clock, with an interlude at noon for "brunch." Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walsh Baldwin of Winnetka.

Mrs. Edwin S. Ford will give a tea this afternoon in Winnetka for her daughter, Suzanne, and for her niece, Barbara Shannon, who lives with the Fords. The cousins attend the Emma Willard school.

Miss Adele Anderson will give a tea today for Miss Cynthia Burnham, daughter of the Frederic Burnhams of Winnetka. Cynthia is at home for the holidays from Fairfax hall in Virginia.

Debutantes Catryna Nevius and Sally Glaser are going to St. Louis, Mo., for the debut tomorrow of Miss Glaser's Vassar roommate, Miss Patty Gamble.

The American Friends of China will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Mrs. Joseph L. Valentine's, 1322 Ritchie court, to hear Mrs. John King Fairbank of Washington describe and illustrate her reconstructions of Han dynasty bas-reliefs. Mrs. Walter S. Brewster and Mrs. Freeman Hinckley will pour tea following the talk.

Evanston Girl to Make Her Debut on Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Englehart of Evanston have an important engagement in New York tonight for their daughter, Barbara, will be making her debut on Broadway. She will have the part of Avis in "The First Crocus," Arnold Sundgaard's play of Norwegian-American family life. Miss Engelhart left Smith college after two years to enroll in the Neighborhood Playhouse School of the Theater, from which she was graduated in 1939. Since then she has been playing in summer stock companies and on the radio.

Mr. and Mrs. Firmin Desloge IV. of St. Louis announce the birth of a daughter on Dec. 18. The mother is the former Durie Malcolm of Chicago.

Swing and dance enthusiasts will fill the Aragon ballroom tonight to dance to Artie Shaw's music for the benefit of the Kenilworth center of the Infant Welfare society. Mrs. Gerald R. Van Doren is president of the center.

Contract According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

To my surprise and great satisfaction, there were comparatively few "squawks" about the official answers in the recent national bridge examination. Careful tabulation of the dissenting letters sent to me reveals that only four questions require reanalysis. These are numbers 15, 21, 36, and 40. Needless to say, other questions provoked a certain amount of disagreement, but not enough to warrant rehashing in this column.

Let's discuss Question 15 today; the other three later this week.

As most readers will recall [many with gnashing of teeth], Question 15 was:

Rubber bridge; both sides vulnerable. You are South, the dealer, and hold:

♠ K Q J 10 9 6 2 ♥ K Q J 10 9 5
♦ None ♣ None

What call do you make?

The official answer was one spade. Unfortunately, in assigning demerits to other answers, I erred badly in not making special provision for five spade and five heart bids, a fact immediately and vociferously called to my attention by thousands of correspondents.

I recognized that an injustice had been done and, in the cases in which my office did the marking of papers, charged only a 15 point, instead of a 50 point, demerit against five spades and five hearts. Announcement of this change was made in last week's columns of Dec. 22 and 23, so that examinees who rated themselves could revise their scores.

Now, let's look at the question again, so that I can explain why one spade is rated 15 points better than five spades or five hearts. Suppose something like this had been the entire deal:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	NORTH
	♠ 8 4 3 ♥ 7 4 2 ♦ A 8 3 ♣ A 9 7 5
WEST		EAST
♠ A 5 ♥ A ♦ K Q J 10 7 5 4 ♣ K Q 10		♠ 7 ♥ 8 6 3 ♦ 9 6 2 ♣ J 8 6 4 3 2
	SOUTH ♠ K Q J 10 9 6 2 ♥ K Q J 10 9 5 ♦ None ♣ None

First, let's assume that South starts off with five spades [or five hearts]. West, who is not exactly "broke," promptly overcalls with six diamonds. North doubles and East passes. Now what does South do? Does he pass [and collect 200 points for a one trick penalty], clairvoyantly recognizing that North's cards will be valueless at a spade or heart contract, or does he bid six hearts, on the not unreasonable hope of finding a major suit ace in partner's hand? Frankly, I wouldn't know what to do in South's position, but I can say this: If he makes the winning decision, he gets credit only for a good guess!

Now let's see what an opening bid of one spade may lead to.

South	West	North	East
1 spade	3 diamonds	Pass	Pass
3 hearts	4 diamonds	4 spades	Pass
5 diamonds[!]	Pass	5 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

The crucial point here is that South has been able to make a cue-bid in the opponents' suit, a bid that he can logically count on making if he starts with a modest one spade. Now North knows that his diamond ace is valueless, and having based his raise on that card, as well as on the club ace, takes no further aggressive action.

Obviously, this is just one of the million deals that might include South's holding, but this single point, that a one spade bid opens the way to cue-bidding in diamonds and/or clubs, establishes at least a 15 point superiority for the official answer. At any rate, that is my opinion.

Nine year old Edward Stejskal, 3733 South 52d court, Cicero, wins an honorable mention in our contest with his chili con carne recipe. "One day when I came home from school my mom was sick in bed. She said I could make the supper for us, and this is what I made. I was proud, because my daddy said it was the best he ever tasted. I can also bake a cake," writes Edward.

Edward's Chili Con Carne.
1 pound hamburger
2 onions, chopped
1 tablespoon butter
1 large can tomatoes
1 large can red kidney beans
Salt, pepper

Fry onions in butter until you can see thru them, add hamburger, and fry until it loses its redness. Add tomatoes and beans, with salt and pepper, and let simmer for half an hour or so. The longer it cooks the better it tastes.

"Mom never adds hot pepper or chili because of me and my 4 year old brother," Edward writes, "but if you like it real hot, you can use as much as you want."

Anna H. Graan, 3113 North Kenmore avenue, has translated her 100 year old family recipe for Swedish ham balls for us. This is another honorable mention recipe.

Swedish Ham Balls.
2 pounds ground smoked ham
3 pounds ground pork shoulder
4 cups bread crumbs
4 eggs, beaten
2 cups milk
3 cups brown sugar
1 cup vinegar
2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 cup water

Combine ground meats with eggs, crumbs, and milk. Mix well together. If the ham used isn't very salty you'll need to add a little salt. Form balls the size of a small egg. Place in a baking dish. Combine brown sugar, vinegar, mustard, and water in a saucepan, and bring to a boil. Pour over ham balls in the baking dish. Bake in a 300 degree oven for 1½ hours. Baste several times with the sauce.

Another interesting honorable mention is the sour cream pancake recipe sent us by Mrs. C. Stob, Downers Grove, Ill.

"Ten years ago, very early on Christmas morning, a group of carolers made the rounds of quite a few homes, singing until daybreak. We then went to my home for breakfast. Over these pancakes we organized the chorus which now sings in the First Christian Reformed church at Green and 71st streets here."

Sour Cream Pancakes.
[Six medium.]
1 egg
2 tablespoons sugar
Scant ½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon soda
½ cup bread flour
½ cup sour cream

Mix cream, egg yolk, sugar, salt, and soda and beat well. Add flour and stir until smooth. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto ungreased griddle. Turn when bubbly and browned on one side.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

How can anything so inexpensive and easy to make be so good? That's the comment made by almost every cook who tries the recipe for crumb cake, writes Mrs. Henry J. Smith, Grant street, Earlville, Ill.

To Mrs. Smith goes today's $5 award for an excellent recipe. It was obtained, she says, from the recipe book of a little old lady past 90. Mrs. Smith serves it at church suppers and makes it for picnics. Contest editors think you'll agree that this is a wonderful recipe.

Crumb Cake.
[Nine by 12 inch pan.]
2 cups all purpose flour
2 cups packed brown sugar [1 pound]
½ cup shortening
1 egg
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
1 teaspoon soda

Mix and sift flour and brown sugar. Cut in shortening as for pastry. [Mrs. Smith uses margarine or vegetable shortening. Butter was used in the test by contest editors]. Take out a cup of the resulting crumbs and reserve for topping. To the remaining crumbs add the egg [you needn't beat it first] and the sour milk in which the soda has been dissolved. Beat enough to mix. Batter does not have to be beaten very long and will have lumps from the brown sugar, but this does not matter in the least. Pour into a well greased nine by 12 inch pan. Sprinkle reserved crumbs over top. Bake at 350 degrees. Serve plain or with whipped cream or ice cream.

Perhaps you have a recipe as good as this one—any kind of recipe, just so it's really good, is eligible for the contest. Write it legibly, give full directions, and send it to the Recipe Contest, Chicago Tribune. Watch for the daily prize-winner.

[Save this for your scrapbook.]

THE Kitchen Kibitzer

By MARIAN CARTER

A look over the shoulder of the kitchen manager in an attempt to speed, lighten and add some novelty to her daily routine.

Don't make a stew of that piece of round steak! If you add water, add it in very small amounts, and let it cook off before adding more. You'll get the very best flavor that way.

* * *

Not-so-usual soups, but good ones: Cream of salmon, cream of cheese, peanut butter, olive, almond (this oughta be good, considering the present steep price of the nut!), cucumber, lettuce. Few of 'em would be topnotchers without that bit of onion flavor, tho.

* * *

Here's a good leftover carrot dish: Place the cooked carrots in a buttered pan, sprinkle with brown sugar, dot with butter, add a little water to the pan and bake until good and hot.

* * *

Try a wee pinch of thyme in the potato soup. Caraway seed is good, too. So is basil in tomato soup, or just plain canned tomatoes. And rub the pork roast with sage once in a while, before roasting.

* * *

If your oven's too hot, the cake will probably be undersized, burn on top, cracked open, or maybe just heavy as lead. If it isn't hot enough, there'll be coarse texture, or maybe a soggy crust. More cakes have been ruined by the oven than by the cook.

Stale angel cake is good toasted and served with a fruit sauce. Or isn't it allowed to get stale at your house?

* * *

Like hamburgers? Fix 'em next time with mustard gravy. Make it by adding as much prepared mustard as you like to a medium white sauce. And pour it over the cooked 'burgers.

* * *

I think you'd better melt that chocolate over hot water, don't you? It scorches so easily!

YOUNG DOCTORS TOLD WHAT TO EXPECT IN WAR

A group of young physicians who face almost certain call into the armed forces yesterday heard an army and a navy surgeon explain the problems they face.

The responsibilities of the physician's position in wartime were emphasized by both speakers — Col. Charles G. Hutter of the army, and Commander G. E. Mott of the navy. They spoke before members of the Association of Internes and Medical Students who are attending the annual convention at International house on the University of Chicago campus.

"Like the parachute jumper, you must do your work right the first time," Col. Hutter said. "There is no second chance."

Col. Hutter advised that every resident physician in the country who has completed one year of internship apply for a commission in the armed forces.

Commander Mott told the audience that the navy physician faces the same problems as the army doctor, with the additional handicap of limited space in which to work.

"Close quarters—for example, 1,800 men on a battleship—are no fun for the physician," he said. "A navy doctor also must be a public health officer. He must inspect the ports where landings are to be made before he permits the troops to land."

FORMS NATIONAL SERVICE STATION DEFENSE LEAGUE

Formation of the National Service Station Defense league to aid the nation's war effort, was announced yesterday by H. A. Inness Brown of New York, editor of The Gasoline Retailer. It is hoped to enlist more than 200,000 gasoline station owners.

"Because station owners and their employés work in the open and come into contact with millions of motorists every week, they are in a good position to spot saboteurs, spread air raid alarms, furnish first aid, and act as morale builders," said Brown. "Also, they can help conserve motor fuels and oils and automotive products."

League headquarters will be at 480 Lexington avenue, New York City. Local chapters will be organized thruout the country.

1 Astonished natives of Sanibel Island woke one morning to find hundreds of tourists invading their lonely reef. "Shell Shock," an article in the Post, told of priceless sea-shells found on that Florida islet, attracted swarms of visitors. Cars lined up 40 deep at Sanibel's ferry landing. So fast did nearby Florida newsstands sell out that Post issue, copies were bid up to $1 per. (Things really happen when you put something in the Post!) Here's another :::

ILLINOIS CALLS VOYLES IN HUNT FOR COACH

SILVER SKATES WINNERS FORM ICE WHO'S WHO

Many Stars Had Start in Derbies.

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

The little fellow you saw yesterday heading for an ice rink with skates hanging from his shoulders wasn't thinking of becoming such a great figure skater that some day he would receive an invitation to be Sonja Henie's partner. Personally, that would be a grand job, but the youngster, like thousands of others in the Chicago district, now is beginning preparations for the Silver Skates Derbies, grandpappy of THE TRIBUNE'S sports promotions, which will be held in Garfield park on Jan. 17 and 18.

The roll call of speed skating's Olympic, international, and national champions can well be the same as the list of winners in the senior men's division of the Derbies. A glance at the record of the Silver Skates, first held in 1917, reveals the event has been the cradle of the most brilliant performers in the sport.

The flying figure of a skate blazing across the finish line in a European city in the winter Olympics always carried the American emblem and beside it a medal for participation in the Silver Skates.

Long Honor Roll.

The honor roll of Silver Skate winners is headed by Art Staff, who won the first event 23 years ago. He also was the winner of the international two mile outdoor title. There's Roy McWhirter, who triumphed in 1920. Roy also was an international titleholder, winning the half mile championship. He is one of the few old timers still active in the sport, serving as a referee and patrol judge. Then follow Bill Steinmetz, Harry Kaskey, Francis Allen, Oneill Farrell, and Ross Robinson.

There was Charles Delphier, who came to Chicago from Detroit to win the Silver Skates in 1928. The list continues with the names of skaters who later won places on America's Olympic team such as Bill Minster, Eddie Schroeder, Ed Stundl, and Al Kucera, who tied for the championship in 1934, and Leo Freisenger.

Schroeder, winner in 1931, who participated in the winter Olympics at Lake Placid, N. Y., the following year, no longer seeks medals and trophies, having a position as an engineer in a loop building. Freisenger also has put away his skates to become coach of the Catholic Youth organization ice skating squad.

Lost to His Friend.

Freisenger failed to reach his objective as a senior division winner, being deprived of that honor by his close friend, Vic Ronchetti, in 1937. However, Freisenger received his start in the 1933 Silver Skates, when he triumphed in the intermediate boys' class.

Vinson Sahlin, who later starred in football for the University of Chicago, won the junior boys' title in 1926 and the intermediate event the next season. Bernie Cannata was a triple winner, taking first place in the junior boys' division in 1933, intermediate in 1934, and the senior men's last year.

There was only one division in the inaugural event in 1917. Now there are eight, and the meet always will continue to develop champions of the sport. Entries will close on Jan. 11.

MAKO MAY TAKE PERRY'S PLACE IN GAMES TONIGHT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—Gene Mako, California tennis star, who turned professional yesterday, may replace Fred Perry here tomorrow night as the pro net troupe makes the third stop of its five month country wide tour.

Perry injured his elbow in a fall in the opening exhibition in New York Friday night and remained behind when the other players—Mako, Frank Kovacs, Bobby Riggs, and Don Budge—came here by train today.

Riggs telephoned Perry at his New York hotel and reported that the English star would fly here tomorrow but doubted whether he could play. If he is still disabled, Mako will battle Kovacs at singles as well as team with Budge against Kovacs and Riggs at doubles. Budge and Riggs will play the other singles match.

LAWYER DIES AS POLO PONY BOLTS DURING GAME

Pinehurst, N. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—Frank W. McCleur Jr., 35 year old Aberdeen lawyer, was killed today when his polo pony bolted in the first period of the Pinehurst-Fort Bragg game and threw him against a pine tree 100 yards from the playing field. After the accident the game was called off.

McCleur, a native of Lexington, Va., was substituting for a player on the Fort Bragg team. When Fort Bragg started a rush for the Pinehurst goal, the McCleur pony ran between the Pinehurst goal posts and headed for the pines.

BY ARCH WARD.

RECOLLECTIONS of 1941, some of which may mean little or nothing to you, but always will be associated with the fading year for us.... The energy, enterprise, and perseverance displayed by George Halas in leading the Chicago Bears to their second successive National Football league title. . . . Arky Vaughan's two home runs in the All-Star game in Detroit, which were wasted, and Ted Williams' one homer which broke up the contest in the ninth inning. . . . That friendly, sympathetic reaction to Mickey Owen's missed third strike that didn't end the fourth world series game as a victory for the Dodgers. . . . The gayety of New Orleans on New Year's eve. . . . The rise and fall of Lou Novikoff. . . . President Roosevelt's tired, worn look at a press conference in May. . . . Sunrise on Mount Evans, Colorado's highest peak. . . . Jim Gallagher's efforts to rebuild the Cubs. . . . The Negro "bottle band" that followed Don Ameche to a night spot outside Louisville on Derby eve and broke up a performance headed by Harry Richman. . . . Bruce Smith's brilliant work for Minnesota in the first half of the game with Michigan, the best football game we saw this season. . . . The astonishing success of "The All-American Way," the movie depicting THE TRIBUNE'S outstanding sports promotions. . . . Hank Greenberg's army record—in the tank corps, and we don't mean swimming. . . . The willingness of European boxing officials to send their amateur champions to Chicago to carry on International Golden Gloves, war or no war. . . . The passing of two of America's greatest sports leaders—Lou Gehrig of the Yankees and Howard Jones of Southern California.

George Halas.

Ted Williams.

Best break for sport: the retirement of Tony Galento, to whom Harry Thomas once "threw" a fight. . . . Boxing lost two of its headline figures with the withdrawal from competition of Henry Armstrong and Lou Ambers. . . . No one who was there ever will forget the thrilling comeback of Boston college to win the Sugar bowl game from Tennessee. . . . 1941 will live in our memory for our good fortune in putting over two of the biggest scoops of the year—the appointment of Elmer Layden as commissioner of the National Football league and the resignation of Bob Zuppke, one of the gridiron's immortals, from the University of Illinois. . . . And who will forget the sensational pass from Charley O'Rourke of Boston college to Jackie Robinson of U. C. L. A., which featured the College All-Stars' play against the Bears before 98,203 spectators at Soldiers' field? . . . Or the way the Kentucky Derby field swept around the last bend with Whirlaway gathering speed at every stride? . . . Fans wondered whether he would make the turn running true to the rail or would he bolt for the outer fence. . . . Jockey Eddie Arcaro held him to his course with the accuracy of a pilot bringing in a plane on a beam. . . .

Other incidents we shall remember always. . . . The enthusiasm of 84 year old Dr. Graham, former Minnesota football player, at a gridiron banquet in Rochester, Minn. . . . The way Tommy Connolly regaled Will Harridge's guests with anecdotes about baseball's pioneer days in a New York hotel suite the night of the first world series game. . . . The moonlight ride on Curley Lambeau's yacht on a sultry August night in Green bay. . . . The big league demise of two White Sox strong boys, Moose Solters and Ben Chapman. . . . The happy recovery of Judge Landis from a severe attack of pneumonia. . . . Joe Farrell's increasingly vociferous rebuttal to those who would torment him by harping on the fact that only one of seven hockey teams is eliminated from the Stanley cup playoffs. . . . Jimmy Dykes' loss of voice in so far as heckling umpires was concerned. . . . The manner in which Alsab went about the job of winning the juvenile championship with a complete indifference to every break of luck and without any of the prima donna type of fussiness that often marks high ranking horses. . . . His rivals could crowd him back on the break out of the gate, they could jostle him on the turns, they could cut him off in the stretch, but at the finish it invariably was Alsab who was out in front, moving with one of the finest strides seen on the turf in many a season. . . . Harry Grabiner, vice president of the White Sox, getting younger looking every day. . . . The decline of Van Lingle Mungo, former Dodger speedball and rumba king. . . . The calm with which Joe Louis climbed back into the ring after he had been sent sprawling thru the ropes by Buddy Baer at Griffith stadium in Washington. . . . Wake contributions from as far away as South Africa.

Ben Chapman.

K. M. Landis.

The excitement that pervaded the Bears-Cardinal crowd at Comiskey park Dec. 7 when word was noised about that the Japanese had attacked Pearl Harbor. . . . The bold wager Leonard Dodson made with George May before the first round of the Tam o' Shanter Open golf tournament. . . . Dodson asked May what the course record was. . . . May replied it was 66. . . . Dodson offered for a $500 bet to break that mark. . . . He did, in the first round, with a 65. . . . How can we ever forget the grand support from readers of The Wake of the News, and the fact that the annual year book was sold to the last copy in less than two weeks? . . . Or the impressive tribute paid to one of Chicago's finest sportsmen—Sheldon Clark—at the first annual Sports Celebrities' dinner? . . . The fading year also was memorable for the fame it brought to a Golden Gloves alumnus, Tony Zale, who has gained the middleweight championship. . . .

The Wake's most amusing experience was the perplexed look on the face of our 17 year old son, a high school senior, when we told him to pick out any university he wished to attend and it would be okay with us as long as it was Notre Dame.

Ten Years Ago Today—Glenn Thistlethwaite resigned as head football coach at Wisconsin. . . . Loyola university hung up its seventh straight victory by defeating Butler, 21 to 19. . . . The Chicago Blackhawks came from behind to tie the Boston Bruins, 3 to 3. . . . Ellsworth Vines, national men's singles champion, defeated George Lott in two out of three matches at the Chicago Stadium.

PICK WATERMAN, SYCAMORE FOR FINAL AT DE KALB

De Kalb, Ill., Dec. 28 [Special].—The four survivors in De Kalb's annual holiday prep basketball tournament—Waterman, Belvidere, Sycamore, and Hinckley—obtained a rest today, but they will resume their attempts to capture the title tomorrow. The semi-finals will be held in the afternoon with Hinckley being paired with Sycamore and Belvidere playing Waterman. The title will be in the evening. Tournament fans who watched all sessions agreed today that Waterman and Sycamore would reach the final round.

RICE (GREG, ETC.) STEAL THE SHOW IN SUGAR BOWL

Ex-Irish Star and Texas Athletes Stand Out.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 28 (AP).—It would have been more appropriate to call the Sugar bowl track meet today the Rice bowl. Athletes of Rice institute took two first places and a second, and Gregory Rice ran away with the three mile event in the fastest time ever made by an American.

Rice, former Notre Dame runner now operating under the colors of the New York A. C., was timed in 14 minutes 13 seconds in the three-mile grind. He bettered by two seconds a mark he set at Indianapolis in 1940.

Hoosiers Set Early Pace.

For two miles Fred Wilt and Earl Mitchell of Indiana made a race of it, Wilt leading most of the time. Then Rice took command and increased his lead until he was sprinting 30 yards ahead at the finish. Wilt finished inches ahead of Mitchell for second.

Fred Wolcott, former Rice hurdler who hasn't lost a race since he fell down in a meet in the spring of 1940, won his third straight Sugar bowl triumph when he beat Bill Cummins of Rice by inches in the 120 yard high hurdles. Charles Hlad of Michigan was third. The athletes ran into a strong wind and Wolcott's time was only :14.7.

Hall Wins 440 for Rice.

Harold Hall came thru with another victory for Rice in the 440 yard dash, coming from third place to take the lead going into the stretch and win in 48.9 seconds. Al Diebolt of Colgate finished second, ahead of John Campbell of Fordham.

Gene Littler of Nebraska, defending champion, started ahead of the field and was in second place when accidentally pushed down by Oris Erwin of Louisiana State, who was trying to pass him in the stretch.

The feature mile race went, according to schedule, to Leslie MacMitchell, former New York university runner and national AAU champion in the event. He finished in 4:13.1 after leading all the way. Walter Mehl, formerly of Wisconsin, was about five yards back and Campbell Kane of Indiana was third.

Liebowitz Tires in Stretch.

Phil Liebowitz of New York dueled with MacMitchell most of the way and made a strong bid for the lead early in the last lap, but tired badly in the stretch.

Cornelius Warmerdam of San Francisco's Olympic club, world's record holder in the pole vault, soared 15 feet in that event for a new southern record. His only opponent, Richard V. Ganslen of the Shore A. A. in New Jersey, failed after 13 feet 6 inches. Despite perfect weather only about 5,000 saw the meet.

[Associated Press Photo.]

Carl Marvin Voyles, for the last three years coach at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va., and previously an assistant coach at Duke and Illinois, is being strongly considered for the post vacated by the resignation of Bob Zuppke as Illini football coach, it was learned yesterday.

New York Beats Chicago for Table Tennis Crown, 5 to 3

BY WILLIAM FAY.

New York won the national intercity table tennis tournament for the eighth straight year last night in the Sherman hotel. A pair of veterans, Lou Pagliaro and Tibor Hazi, with the timely assistance of Dick Miles, 18 year old De Witt Clinton High school star, edged out Chicago's youthful trio—Bill Holzrichter, Bob Anderson and Dan Kreer—in the final and decisive match of the meeting, 5 to 3.

Both teams carried perfect records of five consecutive triumphs into the final, which concluded the two day tournament.

Holzrichter staved off Chicago's defeat by beating Hazi 21-12, 22-20, to reduce New York's margin to 4 to 3, but Miles won the fifth and decisive point for the defending champions by whipping Kreer, 21-9, 21-12.

Holzrichter Voted No. 1.

Holzrichter, who won 12 of 13 individual matches during the tournament, was voted the outstanding player by captains of the competing teams. Billy, incidentally, is captain of the Chicago team, but the vote was unanimous, and Billy didn't even have to throw in a ballot for himself. Hazi was runnerup for individual honors.

Third place went to Detroit with four victories and two defeats. St. Louis and Indianapolis were deadlocked for fourth place with two triumphs and four losses each. However, St. Louis, which had a .465 individual match play average against Indianapolis' .350, was awarded fourth place.

A similar bulge in the percentages —.350 to .310—gave Boston fifth place ahead of Philadelphia, altho both teams had identical records of one victory and five defeats.

Pagliaro Defeats Kreer.

Chicago gambled at the outset of the three man round robin by sending its No. 3 player, Kreer, against New York's No. 1, Pagliaro. Chicago hoped Kreer might hit thru Pagliaro before Lou fully warmed up—and things very nearly worked out that way. Kreer ran nine points in the first game before Pagliaro scored with a backhand placement.

Kreer won the first game, 21 to 11, and went all the way to 18-all in the second game before Pagliaro took charge. Lou won the second game, 24 to 22, then stroked steadily against a by now flailing—and inaccurate—Kreer to take the deciding game, 21 to 13.

Anderson evened for Chicago by defeating Hazi in the important match involving the teams' No. 2 players. Hazi's flicked backhand took the first game, 21 to 17, and Anderson's topped forehand swept the second game, 21 to 19. The decisive third game was a battle to 19-19, when Hazi missed two forehands to allow Anderson to go out at 21 to 19.

Chicago Goes to Front.

Holzrichter, Chicago's No. 1, put his team ahead, 2 to 1, by whipping Miles, New York's No. 3, 20-22, 21-18, 21-17. Holzrichter's hard hit drives began to find the corners at 7-7 in the second game and Billy ran to a 14-7 lead. The third game was all Holzrichter.

Hazi came from far behind at 5-10 in the third game to beat Kreer, 19-21, 21-8, 21-6, and even the match at 2-all.

Then came the battle between the No. 1 players, Holzrichter and Pagliaro. Holzrichter carried a string of 12 straight victories into the match while Pagliaro, the national champion, had won only seven of his 11 matches. But in the pinch Pagliaro was still the champion. He won convincingly, 21-18, 21-15, by breaking up Holzrichter's driving attack with deep slices, then taking over the attack with his own potent forehand half way thru the second game.

COACHES GATHER TODAY TO PUSH SPORT PROGRAM

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 28 (AP).—Evidence that the nation's colleges intend to hold fast to full athletic programs in the war crisis was offered today as early birds arrived here for four administrative conferences headed by the 21st annual session of the American Football Coaches association.

The day's developments were these:

1. The nation's track coaches were told to prepare for the 1942 Pan-American games at Buenos Aires, Argentina. Dr. Lloyd W. Olds of Ypsilanti, Mich., chairman of the national AAU committee promoting the event, said he had received definite instructions from his New York office to proceed with preliminary details.

2. Football coaches in all sections were reported to be planning to conduct practice schedules next spring despite the advancement in many cases of the normal June graduation dates. D. O. [Tuss] McLaughry of Dartmouth said most coaches presumably would get started earlier with indoor workouts.

Rules Committee Meets Today.

McLaughry, who is the association's secretary-treasurer, arrived to put things in order for the coaches' session which opens tomorrow with an important meeting of the rules committee under Chairman Lou Little of Columbia. Half of the organization's 1,000 active members are expected to be on hand Tuesday.

Meanwhile, the National Collegiate Athletic association will begin its 36th annual meeting tomorrow and in joint session with the coaches will discuss Tuesday the contribution of competitive athletics in the war crisis. The College Physical Education society also will convene Tuesday.

While there appeared to be small clamor for revision of the football code, the report of Little's committee, probably to be submitted Tuesday, was awaited with interest. The coaches' recommendations then will be sent to the NCAA rules committee which will meet next month in Phoenix, Ariz.

Little Agitation for Changes.

"There hasn't been much agitation for rules changes," said McLaughry, "perhaps not as much as other years. Yet last year it was comparatively quiet before the committee came up with the unlimited substitutions sug-

WILLIAM & MARY LEADER BOASTS A FINE RECORD

Served as Zuppke's Aid Five Years.

BY RICHARD RAMEY.

A series of points was cleared up last night about the University of Illinois football coaching situation.

It also was learned that Carl Marvin Voyles, coach at William and Mary college, Williamsburg, Va., for the last three years and a one-time Illinois freshman coach, is being strongly considered.

Premature, erroneous rumors to the contrary, a new head coach will not be named tomorrow. In fact, the university's athletic board of control will not submit a recommendation to the board of trustees for at least two weeks.

This was assured by Waldo B. Ames of River Forest, chairman of the athletic board. Here are the points he cleared up:

1. "You can say that we won't do any business with the board of trustees Tuesday; and that I will NOT attend the trustees' meeting.

[The trustees will hold a special session at the Chicago Illini Union building, 719 South Wood street, at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow, to deal with financial problems and the effect of the war on operation of the university.]

2. "Neither will Athletic Director [Douglas R.] Mills make a recommendation for a coach to the trustees, for the simple reason that he hasn't made one to our committee.

3. "We still intend to interview at least a half dozen prospective coaches, some of whom have not even applied for the job yet. It may require a month before we prepare to make a decision.

4. "The athletic board has held meetings in Chicago the last two week-ends, and we have interviewed 10 candidates.

5. "As far as we are concerned, Jimmy Phelan is just one of many candidates. He has filed an application—but he has NOT been interviewed.

[Phelan, former coach at Purdue, recently was asked to resign as coach at the University of Washington.]

6. "Contrary to published reports, there has been no pressure placed upon the athletic board by any group of persons, alumni or otherwise, concerning any candidate."

No Pressure Brought.

James M. Cleary of Kenilworth, president of the board of trustees, also assured THE TRIBUNE last night that no pressure has been brought to bear by the trustees, and that none will be.

"We [the trustees] don't care a hoot who is selected as the new coach," he said. "It isn't our problem. We have placed 100 per cent confidence in the athletic board and Director Mills. Until a candidate is recommended we won't discuss the matter. When that time comes we'll sit back and listen."

Ames declined to name eight of the 10 coaches who have been interviewed, but did admit that one of them is Voyles and another is Pete Cawthon, idle last fall after a term of coaching at Texas Tech. Voyles, before going to William and Mary was an assistant to Wallace Wade at Duke university for eight years.

Voyles Interviewed by Board.

Voyles was interviewed by the Illini athletic board in Chicago Saturday, and left yesterday to attend the National Football Coaches' association meeting which opens in Detroit today. For five seasons, 1925 to 1930, Voyles was an assistant to Robert C. Zuppke, who resigned in November after 29 seasons as Illinois' head coach. It is known definitely that Voyles did not apply for the position vacated by Zuppke, and that he was extended an invitation to appear before the athletic board because of his exceptional record as a coach.

Don Peden of Ohio university, a former Illini half back, is another who did not seek the job, but who is known to be on the list of those to be interviewed—if he has not been contacted already.

Voyles, 42 years old, is not a graduate of the University of Illinois, but nevertheless is regarded as one of the outstanding candidates. He was an all-around athlete at the high school of Drumright, Okla., and won nine letters at Oklahoma A. & M. college [three in football]. His college career was interrupted when he won a commission in the army at Fort Sheridan in 1918. He returned to A. & M. to serve as an end on the football teams of 1919 and 1920, being captain the latter year.

Owns Great Record.

At Altus [Okla.] High school during 1921-'22 the football team coached by Voyles won nine games and then lost a playoff for the state championship. He then coached three years at Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers college in Weatherford, where the football teams won 19, lost five, and tied two, winning the conference title in 1924.

Voyles was assistant freshman football coach at Illinois in 1925, 1926, and

New York, Dec. 28 (AP).—The Brooklyn Americans, aided by the return to action of Gus Marker, who missed 19 games because of a wrist fracture, tonight outplayed the Toronto Maple Leafs for a 2 to 1 victory that consolidated the Americans' hold on sixth place in the National Hockey league.

Marker, who suffered his accident in the team's first game of the season at Detroit, Nov. 3, scored the winning goal half way thru the second period by flicking a shot from behind the Toronto nets that caromed off Goalie Turk Broda's skate into the cage.

He was also in on the play for Brooklyn's first goal, a much-disputed counter that came within a whisker of coinciding with the buzzer ending the first period. Toronto argued that the puck entered the net simultaneously with the buzzer, but Referee Frank Clancy overruled them. Lineup:

Swedes Defeat Hakoah, 3 to 0 in Cup Replay

BY OFFSIDE.

The South Side Swedes scored a 3 to 0 victory over Hakoah yesterday in a replay of a second round National Amateur Soccer tournament game at 83d street and Yates avenue before 1,000. The two teams met in their regularly scheduled game last week in Key Branch stadium, which was called on account of darkness with eight minutes of an overtime period left to play and the Swedes leading, 3 to 0.

The Swedes pressed an attack continuously from the opening kickoff yesterday, but altho having the better of the early exchanges were unable to score until the 20th minute, when Helge Grunnard drove the ball into the net after taking a pass from Tommy Riley. A penalty goal converted by Billy Fraser made it 2 to 0 as the half ended.

The Swedes scored the final goal after turning back a Hakoah offensive early in the second period. Robert Grieve of the Swedes was brought down within the penalty area, but Fraser's kick was turned aside for a corner by Goalie Matt Stein. Riley, after a duel for the ball, secured possession and passed to Grieve, who drove past Stein from five yards out. Lineup:

KOENIGS MOVE INTO LEAD IN CLASSIC LEAGUE

Koenig Brau totaled 3,217 to lead Classic league bowling teams last night at Faetz Recreation, and with the aid of the Ambrosias, ousted Schlitz from first place. The Koenigs now hold a one game lead over Schlitz thru their three victories over Blatz while the Ambrosias won the odd game from Schlitz.

Pete Petersen, anchor man for Koenig Brau, bowled a 727 series, and Les Fuller shot 707 for Pabst. Fuller opened with 276. High game was 278, by Matt Kowalski of Koenig.

Michigan and Butler Fives Play Tonight

College Basketball

GAMES TONIGHT.

Michigan at Butler.
Loyola at Santa Clara.
Ohio State at Stanford.
Oklahoma at Bradley.
Michigan State at Rochester.
Wyoming at C. C. N. Y.
Oregon State at Manhattan.
Nebraska at Detroit.
Cornell at Wayne.

The Western conference, whose representatives have won the National Collegiate Athletic association basketball championships of the last two years, still boasts of six unbeaten teams in intercollegiate competition this season. Altogether, the Big Ten has won 30 of 38 contests against outside competition. Tonight, two of these go into action again, attempting to improve the record.

Michigan, carrying a .500 average in its two tests thus far, starts a year-end road trip by opposing Butler in Indianapolis tonight, and then meets Marquette in Milwaukee on Wednesday. Ohio State, attempting to break a two game losing slump on a western trip, finishes its business on the Pacific coast this evening against Stanford.

Conquered Great Lakes.

Ohio State, oddly epough, is the only Big Ten team which has been able to defeat the band of former college stars representing the Great Lakes Naval Training station. The Buckeyes achieved this feat in their opening game and then proceeded to whip Kentucky. Since then, tho, Ohio State has hit the skids, losing at Creighton last week, 60 to 34, and at California Saturday night, 50 to 38.

In addition to the assignments for Michigan and Ohio State tonight, six other games involving Big Ten quintets are scheduled as the last tests before the opening of the Western conference race on Saturday. Four of the six unbeaten teams in intercollegiate play will risk their perfect records. Minnesota and Indiana of the undefeated ranks will be idle until championship combat gets under way.

Illinois, victor over Marquette, Butler, Detroit, and Notre Dame, will shoot for its fifth straight against Harvard in Champaign tomorrow. Harvard continued its losing habits in the midwest last Saturday, falling before Bradley, 48 to 44. The Illini have averaged 47 points per game. Iowa, triumphant over Washington U. of St. Louis and Western Michigan, but beaten by Butler, meets Nebraska in Iowa City in the other game tomorrow.

Three Play Wednesday.

Wisconsin, Purdue, and Northwestern, also unbeaten by college foes, all play on New Year's eve. Including last year's windup, Wisconsin has won 19 straight and will seek No. 20 against Dartmouth in Milwaukee on Wednesday. The Badgers already have beaten Carroll, Marquette [twice], and Notre Dame.

Northwestern, paced by Sophomore Otto Graham, meets Notre Dame in Evanston on Wednesday, hoping to place the Irish alongside Western Michigan, Butler, and Pittsburgh in their list of victims. Graham, in scoring 60 points, has aver

ST. MICHAEL FIVE ROUTS CATHOLIC OF JOLIET, 50-29

Enters Semi-Final Round Scheduled Tonight.

Tourney Facts

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.
St. Philip, 26; St. George, 21.
St. Patrick, 34; De Paul, 14.
Mount Carmel, 33; St. Mel, 17.
St. Michael, 50; Joliet Catholic, 29.
TONIGHT'S SEMI-FINALS.
8 p. m.—St. Philip vs. St. Patrick.
9 p. m.—Mount Carmel vs. St. Michael.

A determined St. Michael quintet, which defeated Leo High on Saturday night to end a Lion victory streak of 42 straight games, disposed of another strong team yesterday in the quarter-final round of the third annual Fenwick junior basketball tournament by scoring a one-sided victory over Joliet Catholic, 50 to 29.

The easy manner in which St. Michael triumphed, plus its victory Saturday over Leo, established the team as a heavy favorite to annex the tournament championship. St. Michael was runnerup to Leo last year in the same meet.

Mount Carmel Wins.

Moving into the semi-finals with St. Michael was Mount Carmel, which may be regarded as St. Michael's chief threat still remaining in the tourney.

Mount Carmel turned back St. Mel, 33 to 17; St. Patrick whipped De Paul, 34 to 14, and St. Philip edged out St. George, 26 to 21, in the other quarter-final contests.

Tonight's pairings pit St. Philip against St. Patrick at 8 o'clock, and Mount Carmel against St. Michael at 9 o'clock.

O'Connor Scores 20 Points.

Charles O'Connor paced St. Michael to victory over Joliet, connecting for seven field goals and six free throws for 20 points, highest individual aggregate of the tournament. Johnny Kempfer, mainstay of the Mount Carmel offensive, again led the Caravan's scoring by registering 13 points.

A sustained third quarter offensive in which St. Patrick scored 12 points while holding De Paul to a single field goal told the story of the Blue Demons' rout, while St. Philip was led into the semi-finals in the first game of the day by Ed Kelly, who scored 13 points by connecting for five field goals and three free throws. 900 to Bowl in Petersen 1942 Classic

More than 900 bowlers from all sections of the United States are expected to compete in Louis P. Petersen's 27th individual classic—the best known event of its type in the country—which is to oper Jan. 24 and continue for nine evenings thru Feb. 1. The event again will be bowled at the Archer-35th Recreation center, 2055 West 35th street. Entries must be postmarked before midnight Jan. 5.

The requirement in the Petersen Classic is eight games bowled across 16 alleys, with two men at a time working on each alley. Compensation for the strenuous assignment is a prize list expected to total $20,000. The list is based on the entry, with $25 as the fee for each entrant.

The richest prize ever paid out to an individual in a bowling tournament, $4,000, was won last year by John Ryan of Waukegan, a Classic league bowler, in the Petersen event. Ryan, who is to defend his title, has won $7,100, more than any other individual in the history of the event. He has participated 14 times, has won it twice and been in the money a third time. In all 41 regular prizes, ranging from $90 to Ryan's $4,000, were paid out last year in addition to six special prizes and numerous prizes for high scores on each squad. A total of $7,460 is to be paid out in squad prizes this year.

The 26 previous Petersen Classics have paid out $165,255 in cash prizes to 453 individuals plus other awards valued at $7,245. In all, 6,900 bowlers have participated.

The schedule as set up by Mr. Petersen provides for squads going on the alleys at three hour intervals, starting at 2 p. m. Saturday, Jan. 24; 11 a. m. Jan. 25, 7 p. m. Jan. 26-29, 5 p. m. Jan. 30, 2 p. m. Jan. 31, and 11 a. m. Feb. 1.

Entries for the event should be mailed to Mr. Petersen at 624 South Michigan avenue.

Parker and Crane, both of which beat opponents in the preliminary round by narrow margins, will meet in the opening game of today's session. The contest will be followed by one in which Tilden's little Bob Burke, a dead-eye shot Saturday, will lead his mates against Wells, which also won Saturday.

Marshall Faces Kelly.

Among other games expected to provide close competition are the meeting of Marshall and Kelly at 4 o'clock and the clash between Bowen and unbeaten Von Steuben, regarded as a potential threat to Du Sable's championship defense, at 8 p. m. Du Sable, with three other teams among the eight Saturday winners, will be out of action today, but will resume play tomorrow in the games which will complete the first round.

Burke scored nine baskets and a free throw in Tilden's victory over Hirsch Saturday to earn him a tie in the opening day's individual scoring with 6 foot, 6 inch Nathaniel Clifton of Du Sable, defending his scoring title as he and his teammates defend the team championship. Clifton's 19 points were accumulated on eight baskets and three free throws.

Semi-finals will be Friday night at 7 and 8 o'clock with the finals Saturday at 4 p. m., following the third-place playoff at 2:30.

Illinois Calls Voyles in Hunt for New Coach

1927. He became head freshman coach in 1928. He helped groom the players who were to establish the greatest three year record in Illinois football history—an unbeaten team in 1927 and only one defeat in 1928 and one in 1929.

In 1931 Voyles became assistant coach at Duke. He helped tutor the Duke team which did not yield a point until the last 30 seconds in the Rose bowl game against Southern California on Jan. 1, 1939.

His Team Beat Dartmouth.

After eight years at Duke, Voyles moved into Virginia at a time when William and Mary's football fortunes were at low ebb. He immediately lifted the small school [only 650 boys are enrolled] to national prominence.

William and Mary was unbeaten in the Southern conference during 1941 until its final game—a loss to North Carolina State. This knocked the Indians out of a share of the title with Duke. Among the achievements of William and Mary last fall was a 3 to 0 victory at Dartmouth.

In three seasons, William and Mary has been beaten only once by a state rival—the University of Virginia in 1939. The Indians won the state title in 1940 and 1941. Their three year football record under Voyles is 20 victories, 6 defeats, and 2 ties. Voyles' complete record as a head coach:

Wins Vardon Trophy Again.

Ben Hogan pocketed $18,358 in prize money during the 1941 golf season and became the first golfer to capture the Harry Vardon memorial trophy two years in succession, Fred J. Corcoran, PGA tournament manager said today.

Hogan's money earnings left him $1,242 short of Sam Snead's record $19,600, but the 553 points he amassed in bagging the trophy smashed Snead's record of 520, established in 1938, when he set the money goal. One of Hogan's greatest accomplishments saw him finish in the money in 56 straight tournaments over a two year period. Leading money winners for 1941 are:

Ben Hogan, Hershey, Pa., $18,358.
Sam Snead, Hot Springs, Va., $12,848.
Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., $12,025.
Craig Wood, Mamaroneck, N. Y., $9,364.
Johnny Bulla, Chicago, $8,309.
Clayton Heafner, Linville, N. C., $6,943.
Lloyd Mangrum, Monterrey Park, Cal., $6,825.

Kovacs Blasted by Tennis Chief After 10 Days

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 28 (AP).—Having judiciously waited and counted up to ten [days] before sounding off, Perry T. Jones of Los Angeles, who is Mr. Big of amateur tennis in California, would now like to say a few words on Frank Kovacs.

Some of them might be pointed, but they are not as sharp as they would have been if Mr. Jones hadn't waited ten days.

Nationally known as the guiding hand of many a famed career, Jones accepts the title of a tennis brass hat, but begs to plead that his headpiece isn't nearly so brassy as some of Kovacs' remarks about amateur tennis.

"At first I was mad," said Jones, "when I read Frank's comments and saw that photograph in which he was holding his amateur trophies and also his nose.

"I have cooled off since then," he continued, "and I sincerely wish Frank every success in his new endeavor in professional tennis. The same goes for Bobby Riggs.

"I am genuinely sorry that Frank saw fit to spoil what had been a most pleasant impression here by a few thoughtlessly ungrateful statements."

As executive secretary of the Southern California Tennis association, Jones has had close dealings with the Oakland lad, Riggs, and such outstanding ex-amateurs as Don Budge, Ellsworth Vines, Fred Perry, and the rest of the pro clan.

He maintains most cordial relations with them all, and all are privileged to use the Los Angeles Tennis club facilities without cost. It might be pointed out that none of these players took occasion to blast amateur tennis when they became professionals.

"It really was a shame about Kovacs, because he is a fine, likable young man," Jones resumed.

"It is a fact, however, that amateur tennis was more than fair with Frank and I don't think he has any grounds for criticizing the sport.

Tex. Christian Gets Down to Work in Miami

Miami, Fla., Dec. 28 (AP).—Texas Christian's Orange bowl football team arrived today and within an hour Coach Butch Meyer had the players out on the practice field working out the kinks gathered in a long train ride. Several hundred persons greeted the Texans, who will meet Georgia Thursday afternoon, but little time was given over to ceremony.

"We're in very good condition," Meyer reported. John Bond, a full back, is the only player among the 38 making the trip who is not in shape to play.

Meyer was not perturbed by the fact that his team will have only three more days of practice at the scene of battle.

Kyle Gillespie, Texas Christian back, said he has recovered full use of the leg broken early in the season, and is in shape to play 50 minutes if necessary.

The team was given the usual warm reception, with plenty of pretty girls in evidence and bags of oranges to be had for the asking.

BEAVERS PLAY GOLF

Pinehurst, N. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—Horton Smith, the golf pro, took over the coaching job for Oregon State's football squad today and gave the boys a golf lesson at the Pinehurst Country club.

Lon Stiner, coach of the Beavers, who meet Duke in the Rose bowl game at Durham on New Year's, brought his charges here for a day of rest. The players surrounded Smith on the first tee and heard him explain golf fundamentals in football terminology.

The football players were luncheon guests of the chamber of commerce and returned to Chapel Hill, where they are training, tonight.

ALABAMA ON WAY

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Dec. 28 (AP).—A squad of 41 Alabama players, left by train early today for a Dallas Cotton bowl date with Texas A. and M. on New Year's day.

Paul Spencer, veteran full back out since Nov. 1 with a broken blood vessel in his leg, is the only injured player, and Coach Frank Thomas said it was doubtful that he would be able to play. Accompanied by acting university President George H. Denny, the squad will arrive in Dallas early tomorrow afternoon.

RAMS WORK, TIGERS RELAX

New Orleans, La., Dec. 28 (AP).—The Missouri university Tigers relaxed from their practice grind today and came here for the Sugar bowl track meet and a party tonight at the suburban home of Sugar Bowl Vice President Joseph B. David. The Fordham Rams, the Tigers' foes in the New Year day's game here, were entertained Christmas eve by David.

The West All-Stars who meet the East here Jan. 3 in a charity affair, joined Missouri as spectators at the track meet after a morning workout at Baton Rouge, La.

Meanwhile, Fordham held an afternoon practice session at Bay St. Louis, Miss., getting in some contact work, running thru signal drills and checking blocking assignments. No scrimmage was held.

The East All-Stars scrimmaged the Kessler field flyers at Biloxi, and won 47 to 0 before 10,000 soldiers. Bill Dudley, back from Virginia, ran for two touchdowns and passed for another. Bob Westfall of Michigan and Bill Smalz of Penn State tallied on line plunges, and Smalz passed to Len Krause of Penn, and Bill DeCorrevont of Northwestern for two more.

Pershing Mondorff, former Maryland half back, starred for the Army team.

Western Teams to Play Chicago Fives Saturday

The universities of Southern California and Colorado will furnish the opposition for De Paul and Loyola in the next collegiate basketball double header to be held in the Coliseum next Saturday night. Because of the previous occupation of the Chicago Stadium by the Sonja Henie Ice Revue, the games were transferred to the Coliseum.

Colorado, the Rocky Mountain champion last season, has been strengthened this year by the return of Bob ["Baby"] Doll, star center. Doll was lost to the squad for the 1940-'41 season because of ineligibility.

NO BEARS NEAR, ALL-STAR TRICKS WORK VERY WELL

Baugh Arrives; Hutson, Isbell Still Absent.

New York, Dec. 28 [Special].—The National Football league All-Stars, who will meet the champion Chicago Bears in the Navy Relief society benefit game next Sunday, worked out today in the Polo Grounds. Then they packed bag and baggage aboard a bus and moved to Garden City, N. Y., to drill twice daily until they return to the Polo Grounds for the game.

"We've got a pretty good offense here already. We haven't lost a yard on it yet," said Coach Steve Owen with a grin as he put his boys thru their paces. The fact that there were no big Bears around may have contributed to his cheerfulness and the happy-go-lucky deportment of his players.

Sammy Baugh Arrives.

There were some new faces among those practicing. Sammy Baugh, the Washington Redskins' passing threat, arrived from Texas in time for the drill and was busy throwing aerials.

Nello Falaschi, Tuffy Leemans, and Mel Hein, three Giants, arrived and pitched right in, but another Giant was missing temporarily. He was John Mellus, a tackle, who was called by his local board in Pennsylvania for army examination.

Isbell, Hutson Still Missing.

Besides Baugh, Leemans, Falaschi, and Hein, those who were being fitted into the All-Stars' picture for the first time were Larry Craig, Green Bay back, who came up from South Carolina, and Wee Willie Wilkin, Washington tackle.

Still missing was Green Bay's great passing combination, Cecil Isbell and Don Hutson.

Also absent were Frank Filchock of the Redskins and Marshall Goldberg of the Chicago Cardinals. Goldberg, because of defense work, definitely cannot report.

BEARS RETURN TODAY

The Chicago Bears, National Football league champions for the second successive year, will reassemble in Wrigley field today following their Christmas vacations and start preparation for their benefit game with the league's All-Star team in New York Jan. 4.

The Bears will hold a limbering up drill on the icy turf of Wrigley field today and are to leave for New York tomorrow night to finish their practice sessions in the Polo Grounds, scene of the game with the All-Stars.

THAT HAIR RE-GROWS

● Pictured above is Mr. Oscar Daly, a Thomas client. He came to us with a scalp condition which he had been told was alopecia areata. Although his hair might have re-grown spontaneously, it is a fact that it did re-grow coincidentally with Thomas treatment. In practically every case of this type accepted by The Thomas' during the past 20 years, hair has grown back in. We find the repetition of such coincidence very flattering.

If you are afflicted with alopecia areata, or if your scalp is covered with itchy scales caused by dandruff, why not consult a Thomas expert? He'll advise you, in private, and will show you other pictures and letters from satisfied Thomas clients. You'll readily see why a quarter-million persons have turned their scalp problems over to Thomas experts. Come in today!

SUPERIOR COURT ACTS TO ADOPT PRE-TRIAL PLAN

May Be Entering Wedge for Consolidation.

BY RAY QUISNO.

Judges of the Superior court today will begin to plan establishment of a pretrial conference system, such as the Circuit court has used for five years. Required by a recent ruling of the Illinois Supreme court, the new system, sometimes called conciliation, will go into operation by Jan. 5.

The purpose of the conciliation system is to speed law cases, or cases involving suits for damages and breach of contract, thru the courts. Chancery cases are not handled in this manner.

At the pretrial conference the judge attempts to conciliate the parties or arrange a settlement without trial. If that proves impossible, he works for simplification of the issues, obtains amendments to the pleadings, limits the number of expert witnesses, tries to obtain admissions of facts and documents to avoid unnecessary proof, and otherwise eliminates extraneous legal actions.

Goes to First Available Judge.

The preliminaries having been disposed of, the case is placed on the daily trial calendar. Meanwhile trial judges in the jury courts are disposing of other cases. When the new case comes to the top of the calendar, it goes to the first available judge and jury. Continuances are granted only for legal reasons.

Under the old system, each judge receives a calendar at the beginning of court in September. The judge must handle all the cases on his calendar. Often when the litigants are ready to go to trial, the court is busy —or when the judge and jury are idle, the litigants or their attorneys have previously obtained a continuance to a future date.

Propose One Presiding Judge.

The judicial advisory committee, according to its chairman, Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher, has proposed that one judge preside at all pretrial conferences for both courts. Neither Judge Fisher nor Chief Justice William J. Lindsay of the Superior court could predict how the 28 Superior judges, a majority of whom opposed establishment of the pretrial conference system for years, would react.

The proposal, nevertheless, gains considerable weight from its source. The judicial advisory committee is composed of judges and attorneys, and its purpose is to advise on judicial reform legislation and rules of court. One of the members is Judge Michael L. McKinley, who preceded Judge Lindsay as chief justice of the Superior court. Officers, in addition to Judge Fisher, are Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington and Attorneys John J. Healy and Amos C. Miller.

Judge Walter J. LaBuy, who conceived and introduced the conciliation system in the Circuit court, is now presiding judge at that court's pretrial conferences.

Revives Consolidation Talk.

In some legal quarters it was said the pretrial conference system may prove to be the entering wedge in a campaign to consolidate the Circuit and Superior courts which have identical jurisdiction. In any event, consolidation is a distant possibility, and would require an amendment to the state constitution.

Proponents of consolidation point out that the Superior court was established partly to handle the overflow of cases from the Circuit court, which is constitutionally limited to 20 judges. They also cite the duplication of clerk's offices as uneconomical.

"The war has been so big in Russia that millions are suffering from the lack of medical supplies," he stated. Every Russian victory is a victory for us."

8 FREIGHT CARS WRECKED; MEAT SPIRITED AWAY

Eight freight cars were wrecked yesterday in front of the Villa Park station on the Chicago Great Western railway, about 200 yards west of the Villa avenue crossing. Early investigation indicated that a broken axle caused the accident. No one was hurt.

The train, consisting of locomotive, tender, and 60 cars was Chicago bound from Omaha, Neb. Most of the cars contained foodstuffs. A sudden smashup occurred as the center of the long train struck a switch. Cars shot out on both sides. Six of them contained meat, the two others soap and grease.

Motorists and others at the scene pounced upon sides of bacon and other pieces of meat, and took them home. Police Chief Carl Pearson obtained several license numbers and hopes to recover the meat.

Seidemann, shows the specific purposes for which federal outlays are made and thus provides an adequate basis for determination of those which can be eliminated in the present emergency. Nondefense spending totals 6½ billion dollars a year at present, the study said.

Savings Suggested by Study.

The study suggests the following curtailments [in millions]:

Flood control, rivers and harbors, and other water projects	$ 350
Agriculture	625
Public domain	19
Public welfare	615
Highway development	171
Executive and other general activities	5
Transfer of costs to state and local governments	300
Total	$2,085

The proposed curtailment in expenditures for agriculture is made possible by the fact that the goal of parity prices has been achieved, and farm income has risen approximately 3 billion dollars in the last two years.

Transfers of costs tc states and local governments were advanced as feasible because of the improvement in their fiscal situation, particularly in respect to states. Other reductions have been made possible by improvement in economic conditions and at the same time have been made necessary by the demand for men and materials in the war program.

Effect Seen in Year.

It is apparent that the full amount of the savings recommended cannot be realized during the present fiscal year, as it is already half over, it was said. These reductions, however, should be fully achieved in the ensuing fiscal year, and there is reason for believing it will be possible as the war program intensifies to make still further reductions in expenditures not directly related to the war.

"The government can set an example for the people in this critical hour by practicing the rigid economies which the national situation imperatively requires," the report said. "Altho nonessential private construction which is already under way is being abandoned so that men and materials will be available for the war effort, much federal nondefense construction is still proceeding.

"Government expenditures for nonessential activities should not be permitted to compete with the government's war program any more than private expenditures for nonessential purposes should be allowed to do so.

"To carry out a systematic program of retrenchment in nondefense expenditures so as to obtain maximum reductions with minimum disturbances to economic life will require continuous congress scrutiny."

The study recommends that a permanent bipartisan committee of the senate and the house be vested with continuing responsibility for analyzing expenditures—for both nondefense and war purposes—with a view to achieving all possible economies consistent with present objectives.

Farm Position for Next Year Ranked 'Best'

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Grain men, commenting yesterday on current conditions, asserted that of all the American people the farmer appears best situated for 1942. They said he has in prospect:

1. The best crops in history.
2. A constant demand and high prices for his products.
3. A share in the largest gross United States agricultural income in more than two decades.

"Farmers are bringing to a close their best year since 1929," the department of agriculture reported. "Production, prices, and income are at high levels. The farm plant appears in good physical condition. With good weather, food production goals will be attained, possibly exceeded.

Seek Adequate Equipment.

"Department agencies are making every effort to see that farmers have the farm equipment needed for the large volume of production sought during the coming year. The farm labor problem is being attacked on a broad front of federal, state, and local coöperation."

The department said it would cost the farmers more in labor and money to produce their crops, but "total cash income from marketings plus government payments will be the largest in more than 20 years. A cash farm income of 13 billion dollars has been forecast for 1942, compared with 11 billion 200 million in 1941."

Department of agriculture officials said the spread of the war to the western hemisphere had not changed the favorable economic outlook for the farmer to any material degree.

Other Favorable Factors.

"Speculative and storage demand may be stimulated for products unaffected by price ceilings," it said. Food for defense buying will be expanded. Industrial activity, employment, and wages will rise."

The farmer has been receiving the best prices for his grain since 1937. The department of agriculture says these prices probably will be even higher next year. The farmer has vast supplies of feed—the largest on record—and the biggest crop of pigs to consume it.

STRIKE OVER PAY PLAN AND WORK RULES TIES UP 239 MILE RAILROAD

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 28 (AP).—A strike tonight by 104 engineers and trainmen on the Toledo, Peoria and Western railroad paralyzed the 239 mile line which runs from Effner, Ind., to Keokuk, Ia. The walkout was called by two unions, the Brotherhoods of Railway Firemen and Enginemen, and Railway Trainmen, in protest against a new wage scale and set of working rules which the company said would be enforced at midnight tonight.

Union officials said the new contract proposed by the company did not recognize seniority as the sole basis in the assignment of train runs and reduced wages by altering the basis of wage calculation. The company contended that the contract would increase wages 26 per cent.

Bus Strike Continues.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 28 (AP).—Officials of Central Greyhound Lines today sent word to Dr. John R. Steelman, head of the federal conciliation service, that the company is demanding that a striking AFL union list points to be arbitrated before the line will accept Steelman's proposal for settlement of the strike. The strike of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach employés remained in effect today.

USERS OF STEEL CANCEL ORDERS, AID WAR EFFORT

Cleveland, O., Dec. 28 (AP).—Substantial tonnage has been removed from steel producers' books by continued cancelation of orders by consumers whose production has been curtailed, the magazine Steel reported today.

"Pressure to buy by civilian consumers has all but disappeared, leaving the way clear for war production," said the trade publication. "Every effort is being made by the steel industry to meet its obligations for war.

"That the production rate dipped only four points to 93½ per cent of capacity for the Christmas holiday week—in contrast to about 15 points in 1940 and 1939—indicates the willingness of the companies and their employés to coöperate fully."

RISES IN RENTS MODERATE, SAYS OFFICIAL OF OPA

New York, Dec. 28 [Special].—Rents have been increasing only moderately thruout the country with the exception of defense areas, Karl Borders, chief of the rent section of the Office of Price Administration said today. He warned that unless statutory controls are imposed, the general upward movement of rents in large defense areas would continue thruout the emergency.

"Driven by the exigencies of total war," he declared, "the government cannot now permit the free operation of landlord-tenant bargaining, when the result of this bargaining contributes to inflation and impedes the smooth functioning of labor recruitment in defense centers."

PRICE SCHEDULE ON PAPER BOARD REVISED BY OPA

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—Extensive revisions of the paper board price schedule, which will permit markups by wholesale distributors and exporters, were ordered today by Price Administrator Leon Henderson. The order takes effect Jan. 1.

Allowances for long hauls, in cases where shortage of shipping has required use of more expensive rail transportation, also were authorized. The amendment permits all freight charges in excess of stipulated amounts are $6 a ton in the case of paper board made chiefly from waste materials; $10 a ton in the case of Kraft corrugating material and liner of domestic origin, and $12 on paper board imported from Canada.

BROKER FIRMS' OFFICES TO BE MERGED TODAY

The Chicago office of Winthrop, Mitchell & Co., effective today, will be merged with Shearson, Hammill & Co. A new firm of Winthrop, Whitehouse & Co. opens today in New York to handle Winthrop, Mitchell's eastern business.

Leeds Mitchell will become a general partner of Shearson, Hammill & Co., which will retain the office of Winthrop, Mitchell & Co. in the board of trade building until new quarters are completed at 208 South La Salle street, present location of the principal Chicago office of Shearson, Hammill & Co.

Winthrop, Whitehouse & Co. will be headed by Richard F. Babcock, who has been senior partner of Winthrop, Mitchell & Co., and Charles R. Gay, senior partner of Whitehouse & Co.

EXPECT 9.4 PCT. FREIGHT RISE IN FIRST QUARTER

Loadings of Nearly All Classes to Gain.

Shippers in Chicagoland during the first three months of 1942 will require 883,219 freight cars to move a representative group of materials, an increase of 9.4 per cent over 806,924 cars in the first quarter of 1941, Midwest Shippers Advisory board predicted yesterday.

Fred A. Schleifer.

All commodities except four—fresh fruits, cement, lime and plaster, and agricultural implements and vehicles—recorded gains. The list of commodities covered in the board's quarterly survey of shipping estimates on this occasion does not include automobiles, trucks, and parts because of the uncertainty in the automobile industry.

Steel Requires More Cars.

The iron and steel industry, which has been operating at virtual capacity for more than a year, estimates that it will need about 94,835 cars, an increase of 8 per cent over last year. Coal and coke, used to fire the furnaces of the huge plants in the areas, will fill about 385,220 cars, a 10 per cent increase over last year. Nearly all foods show sharp gains over actual loadings of last year in the predictions for the coming quarter.

Fred A. Schleifer, general chairman of the Midwest board, said that shippers in the area, which includes Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, western Indiana, and northern Michigan, will make the greatest effort in their history to load and unload freight cars to "keep 'em rolling" on the railroads. The board has a committee which watches shippers thruout the area to see that they do not keep cars standing idle on sidings.

Retailers Are Warned to Hold Sugar Prices at Stable Level

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 [Special].—Price Administrator Leon Henderson today called upon retailers to hold stable the price of sugar and prevent the hoarding and profiteering which were prevalent during the World war. He said retailers can replenish their stocks at the prices prevailing when the United States entered the new war.

In an open letter to both wholesales and retailers, Henderson reminded them that altho he had not fixed retail prices for sugar, his order of Dec. 21 had established maximum prices for sales by distributors to wholesalers. At the same time, it held sales by wholesalers to retailers to the price level prevailing during the period Dec. 1 to Dec. 6.

Curtails Excessive Buying.

By a previous order, Henderson had curtailed excessive purchases of sugar, freezing inventories, and he said the primary purpose of these actions was "to prevent the development of runaway prices for one of the most essential of all foodstuffs."

"Hoarding and profiteering in sugar," he said, "reached the proportions of a national scandal during the World war. I am confident that during this war America's retail distributors of food are 100 per cent behind their government's firm policy to protect the public against any repetition of this condition.

"Now that we have taken steps to give retailers the benefit of stable wholesale sugar prices, we urge all retailers to see to it that the American housewife can buy sugar at prices that reflect this stability at the wholesale level."

No General Price Rise.

OPA officials said there had been "sporadic" retail price increases but no general rise and that Henderson hoped it would not be necessary to fix retail prices—a difficult problem because of the difference in freight rates in various parts of the country.

No reply has been received, it was said, to Henderson's telegram last night urging the other principal cigaret manufacturers not to follow the cent a package increase ordered for Luck Strike cigarets. OPA officials said they assumed the American Tobacco company would have representatives here tomorrow for a conference with Henderson, as he requested last night.

Classify Buses and Trucks for Emergency Use

WPA workers are classifying all trucks and buses in Illinois according to type, location, and gasoline consumption, it was disclosed yesterday.

"In case of emergency the war department will want to know where trucks and buses of various kinds may be found," said E. Alston McNatt of the Public Roads administration in Washington, who is technical director of the project here.

"The data also may be used in establishing priorities quotas to some extent. It is my understanding that another agency will be set up to survey tractors and other powered farm equipment."

85 Workers on Project.

An allocation of $57,000 is supporting 85 WPA workers on the project. The sponsor is the Public Roads administration, which pays rent for quarters in the Illinois Business College building in Springfield.

Altho much of the information wanted is obtained from the license records in Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes' office, some of it can be gathered only by sending questionnaires to owners of the vehicles, McNatt said.

Answering the questionnaires is a "purely voluntary, but a patriotic duty," McNatt said. Information obtained in this way includes facts as to whether vehicles are registered in more than one state, how many commercial vehicles are owned by the same person, and the annual mileage of the trucks and buses.

List Mechanical Devices.

WPA clerks are listing the features of trucks, such as dumping devices, more than one set of driving wheels, and rated load capacity.

Officially, the project is supervised by the Illinois traffic advisory committee to the war department, which is comprised of State Police Chief Leo Carr, John Nash, head of the motor vehicle license department in the secretary of state's office, and the state highway engineer.

REPORT ON ALL INDISPENSABLE WORKERS URGED

Employers should survey the draft status of their personnel and then forward to their local draft boards a statement covering each worker actually indispensable, the Employers' Association of Chicago announced yesterday. Employers should ask deferment only for those men essential to defense production and in many cases employ older men to replace those required for military service, the association said.

INDUSTRY TAKES WAR SHOCK WITH LITTLE QUAVER

Production Holding Near Capacity.

Conditioned for more than a year and a half to the imperative requirements of a multi-billion dollar preparedness program, the American economy absorbed the shock of sudden war with little quaver.

This was indicated in an analysis of the transition from peace to war presented yesterday in the monthly review of business conditions by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

No Effect on Trade Course.

"War developments have had no noticeable effect on the general course of industry and trade," the survey said. "The rate of activity appears to have been maintained at or near the high level reached at the end of November, with war industries operating at capacity schedules and other branches of business, for the most part, as active as shortages and restrictions permit."

The outbreak of war between the United States and the axis powers has climaxed a year in which the influence of military activities on economic life has become steadily broader and more powerful, the review asserted.

Increase Without Interuption.

"The momentum of our defense program and the scope of our aid to foreign governments resisting aggression have increased without interruption and have forced industry, commerce, and finance into ever closer conformity with the rapidly developing national effort," it said.

"The advent of total war finds the nation well advanced on the road to complete preparedness, with its emergency powers functioning, its incomparable productive strength greatly increased and still expanding swiftly in the necessary directions, and its people exhibiting a new spirit of unity and determination to work together in meeting and overcoming the common danger."

U. S. STEEL'S OUTPUT SETS ALL-TIME PEAK OF 29 MILLION TONS

Irving S. Olds.

New York, Dec. 28 (AP).—Irving S. Olds, chairman of the board of the United Steel corporation, announced today that the corporation's production this year reached a record high of 29 million tons of steel ingots, compared with 23 million tons in 1940.

"A large part of this production went into defense," he said. "Work is under way in the erection of new facilities by various subsidiaries to increase their steel making and finishing capacities as a part of the government's steel expansion program. Existing facilities of subsidiaries for the production of such war materials as heavy and light armor plate, shell forgings, unloaded shells, and bombs, are now in full operation."

RESTRICTED DIVIDENDS.

What are the dividend restrictions on the common stock of Gimbel Brothers? How long has it been since a common dividend was paid? Have earnings reflected the general upturn in department store business? What stores are operated?—L. M.

Answer: The company cannot pay dividends on the 977,300 outstanding shares of common stock before full dividends are paid on the $6 cumulative preferred stock and the preferred stock sinking fund requirements are met. In addition, the company's surplus and net profits must exceed an amount equal to dividends in full for a period of two years upon outstanding preferred and the payment of a common dividend cannot be made if such payment will reduce surplus and net profits below such an amount.

Nothing has been paid on the common since the company's incorporation in 1922. The preferred stock sinking fund provides that annually on Aug. 1, 10 per cent of consolidated net earnings, after taxes and preferred dividend requirements, of the preceding fiscal year is to be used for the purchase or redemption of not more than 5,000 shares of preferred at a price not exceeding $105 a share and accrued dividends. At the end of July this year, there were 193,384 shares of preferred outstanding.

Preferred dividend requirements in the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 1941, amounted to $1,169,850. The rate is $6 annually. Regular dividends have been paid on the preferred stock since it was issued in 1936.

Gimbel's sales and profits have shown strong improvement. For the six months thru July this year, net profit was $676,475, equal to 11 cents a common share, compared with a loss of $640,665 in the corresponding 1940 period. Sales in the respective periods totaled $49,138,776 and $40,864,894. Results for fiscal years follow:

	Net sales.	Net income.	Per com. shr.
1941	$ 99,546,531	$2,348,055	$1.21
1940	92,231,119	1,402,295	.23
1939	87,993,346	437,531	...
1938	100,080,575	2,278,709	1.12
1937	95,683,562	3,226,132	2.08
